SIXTY CENTS PER MONTH

BARES ALLEGED A.E.F. KILLINGS

BARE PLAN FOR SHIP JUNKING

Powers Must Destroy Vessels Within 16 Months After Pact Signed

ENVOYS AGREE ON SCRAPPING PLANS

Will Salvage Steel from Sea Fighters; Limit Use of Skeletons

United Press Leased Wire
WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Three major accomplishments on the path toward a cleanup and agreement on the limitation of the naval armament program were registered today in the arms conference.

They were:
1—An agreement on the methods by which the sixty-eight great dreadnaughts of the naval powers will be scrapped.
2—An agreement by the naval experts upon vital details of a replacement program.

3—The French had instructions to accept in principle the Root resolution banning the use of submarines against merchantmen.

Details Are Told.
The United Press learned from the highest sources the details of the ship scrapping program.

Two main methods will be followed in junking the big sea fighters:
1—All of the sixty-eight capital ships to be scrapped under the agreement between the United States, Great Britain and Japan must be rendered incapable of war-like purposes within sixteen months from the time the naval treaty goes into effect and must be entirely scrapped within four years from that date.

2—The old ships to be replaced after they have been in service twenty years, under the agreement are to be rendered incapable of war-like purposes within six months and are to be entirely scrapped within eighteen months after the completion of the construction of the replacement tonnage.

For Limited Use.
The ships are to be scrapped by the various powers in whatever way they desire, within certain prescribed limitations. Also, within limitations, the powers will be allowed to keep some of the ships for other than naval purposes if they have been rendered completely incapable for war use.

In addition to these provisions each of the powers is to be allowed to keep three of its capital ships for limited naval service.
The new plan allows a longer time for scrapping than did the original Hughes naval proposals, which called on the three powers to have their navies stripped down to the required limit in capital ships three months after the making of the agreement. The replacement agreement is in the form of a chart, providing for the exact periods at which each nation can start rebuilding, and is understood, in general, to meet the wishes of France for an opportunity to start replacements before the close of the holiday, though the spokesman declined to say whether France was allowed to start in 1927 as requested.

Will Salvage Steel.
It is understood that methods approved for scrapping the big battleships call for the salvage of the steel and other metals in them.

Secretary of State Hughes called on President Harding today and afterwards announced he believed the conference would wind up in about three weeks.

While it had been previously indicated that the French would make their acceptance of the Root proposal conditional upon an agreement that merchant ships should not be armed, the British spokesman said his group and the Americans now understood that such a string was not attached, though he could not announce that with absolute positiveness.

The Japanese and Italians, so far as the British delegation was informed, had not yet received a reply on the Root resolution.

As for the 10,000 to limit for cruisers, it was said that no difficulty is anticipated on that score, France evidently having acquiesced.
On the Far Eastern side of the conference, the tariff committee, it was announced, had agreed upon an effective five per cent customs rate for the Chinese, to be put into operation by the permanent tariff board in China.

BANDITS GET $6700
DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 4.—The employees of Viviano and Sons, commission merchants, were terrorized today by two bandits who threatened to kill any one who resisted. The safe was robbed of $6700.

SAN PEDRO, Jan. 4.—The dead and mangled body of E. J. Hatch, veteran Southern Pacific railroad conductor was found in the local railroad yards early this morning. Hatch is believed to have been struck by a switch engine while checking his train.
His body was dragged for several blocks under the wheels of the train before it was released.
Hatch was 65 years old and resided at 5524 Armitie drive, Sierra Vista. A son of the dead man is a Pullman conductor on the Lark.

EXPLOSION OF STILL BLAMED FOR 2 DEATHS

Sisters Perish When Home Burns Following Blast; Police Find Still In Debris

CAIRO, Ill., Jan. 4.—Two sisters were burned to death in a fire which destroyed their home here today.
Marie, 17, and Gladys Hogan, 9, were the victims.
Police believe the fire was caused by the explosion of a still which was found in the debris.

Immigrant Law Bars Children; Admits Mother

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—A mother was allowed to land, but immigration restrictions barred her four children when the steamer docked here today.
Mrs. Mary Boyd, an Englishwoman, on her way to join her husband in Death Valley, Calif., was admitted because the English quota has not been exhausted. Her children were born in Australia and the quota from that country had been exhausted.
Mrs. Boyd refused to leave her children and steps to have them admitted were taken.

FIRE CALLS GO UP AS MERCURY DROPS

When the weather turns cold, the number of fires increases—not alone in wood stoves and fire places, but also in houses and other places where fires are not wanted.
Fire Chief Luxembourg called attention to this fact today, when he announced that in January last year there were more calls for the fire department than during any other month of the year. The number was six, to be exact. In all there were twenty-two general alarms, he stated.

At the same time he gave out these additional figures for 1921:
Of the twenty-two alarms turned in, two were false. Nine alarms were turned in through alarm boxes and fifteen were turned in by telephone. In the daytime there were four calls and in the night there were ten.

The loss to property was $13,202, which is exceptionally low for a city the size of Santa Ana, the chief stated.
There were no calls in February, and there was one each in every other month excepting January, when there were six, and in August, three, and December, four.

Senators Uneasy as Vote in Newberry Seat Contest Near

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Democratic senators late today began an attack on Senator Newberry in the senate for his failure to appear in his own defense up to this time. Senators from Alabama; Tremmell; Florida; Caraway; Arkansas; and Pomerene, Ohio, took part in the attack.

BY LAWRENCE MARTIN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Truman H. Newberry of Michigan, of senatorial contest fame today held his fate in his own hands.
His own defense before the senate against charges of too lavish expenditures in his election probably will decide whether he retains or loses his seat.
Half a dozen senators will determine the issue. If Newberry convinces them with his defense, which he is now preparing, which he will keep his place. If his personal appeal to the senate fails to move them he will be ousted.
Newberry's defense "managers," who have seen the speech he will deliver in person to the senate late this week or early next, predicted today the mere fact that he defends himself will satisfy the "doubtful" senators.
Meantime it is becoming apparent to the senate that the country feels more deeply about the Newberry matter than either Republican or Democratic leaders suspected.
The result has been to put several senators who next November will seek re-election in uncomfortable places. Cummins of Iowa, is one. Johnson of California is another. Johnson is now on his way to Washington from the Pacific coast and is expected here in time to vote on Newberry. Pointed out of Washington, who is still on the coast, has sent word he will leave for the capital the middle of January. He said he expects to be here in time for the vote.
Townsend of Michigan, Newberry's colleague, finds his political fortunes tangled with the Newberry case. Some Republican senators say they want to hear Townsend's final defense of his colleague before making up their minds.

Seeks Early Vote on Pact

Bitter Contest Looms in Race For Penrose's Seat

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Resentment of Pennsylvania politicians over alleged administration "interference" in the Pennsylvania political situation created by Senator Penrose's death today caused Senator Watson, Indiana, to declare that neither he nor President Harding was attempting to dictate or influence the appointment of Penrose's successor.
Watson yesterday conferred with Harding, talked with Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania on the telephone and then said it would be a good guess that Sproul would come to Washington within forty-eight hours as Penrose's successor.

Immediately the Vire forces in Pennsylvania, chief rivals of Penrose's machine, put State Senator William Vire to the front as a candidate for the vacant seat and asked if the appointment was being dictated from Washington.

Watson today declared his only interest in the matter was to get a "good Republican here as quickly as we can get him."

"Governor Sproul, of course, has to decide," he said.

FRENCH PREMIER TO SEEK NEW ALLIANCE WITH BRITISH, VIEW

By WEBB MILLER
United Press Staff Correspondent
CANNES, France, Jan. 4.—European history of the next ten years was in the making today.
With the arrival of Premier Briand of France, delegates to the Cannes conference immediately began a series of serious preliminary conversations. The fate of the French cabinet and of Anglo-French relations were considered by observers to be in the balance as the opening of supreme council meeting nears.
Before the supreme council meets Briand will urge upon Lloyd George the necessity for a military and political alliance between France and Great Britain. The French premier, it was learned upon his arrival here, considers this the best method of solving many post-war difficulties, also of allaying England's anxiety regarding France's naval and military necessities.
He will seek to limit the supreme council's discussions to questions of reparations and the economic reconstruction of Europe, and will make a proposal for accepting German payments on terms more favorable to Germany.
In each of these projects it is believed Briand will be opposed by the British.
Lloyd George, with whom the premier entered into private conversations shortly after his arrival today, is known to favor economic aid to Russia and Germany as a subject for the council's deliberations. England wishes German markets opened to British goods.
The British premier will also oppose Briand's proposals regarding reparations and will have his country behind him in rejecting any offer of an alliance with France.

Says Prohibition Increasing Despite Propaganda of Wets

United Press Leased Wire
CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—Prohibition is effective in at least seventy-five percent of the United States. Outside of the larger cities, from 85 to 90 percent of the area of the country is dry.
This is the situation after two years of national prohibition as pictured by Bishop Thomas Nicholson, president of the anti-saloon league of America, in an interview with the United Press today.
"Prohibition is rapidly gaining in the United States," Nicholson said.
Reports of operation of an increased number of stills and of the increase in the manufacture of home brew, he said, were propaganda spread by the wet interests in an effort to have the people repeal the act.
"An investigation recently made shows that the consumption of liquor is rapidly decreasing," he said. "Outside of the larger cities we find very little effort to evade the law."
According to the bishop reports from all parts of the country since prohibition became effective indicate large increases in bank deposits and savings, shorter delinquent tax lists and a large decrease in arrests for drunkenness.

Riverside Mayor Dies When Auto Runs Into Truck

United Press Leased Wire
RIVERSIDE, Jan. 4.—This entire city today mourns the death of Mayor Lyman W. Brown, who was killed in an automobile accident at Uplands last night.
Mayor Brown was inaugurated mayor of Riverside yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. His first act was the appointment of heads of departments, following that he presided over the meeting of the city council. After the meeting he went to Los Angeles and returning through Uplands at 9 o'clock he was killed when his automobile crashed into a truck carrying a load of lumber.
A piece of timber crashed through the windshield of the car striking him over the heart. The truck was standing at the curb when Mayor Brown's car crashed into the heavy timbers projecting out over the bed.
Mrs. Monica Alverson, his private secretary, and Mrs. Minnie Player, her sister, were in the car, but both escaped injury. Pedestrians who witnessed the accident removed the injured man from the wreck and he was taken to the San Antonio hospital at Uplands.

S. F. Man Will Make Offer On Muscle Shoals

FLORENCE, Ala., Jan. 4.—The bid, to be forwarded shortly to Secretary of War Weeks for the Muscle Shoals plant, by the Construction company of North America for the Muscle Shoals power and nitrate plants will not include provisions for the manufacture of fertilizer at nitrate plant No. 2, C. C. Tinkler, president, declared today.
"To equip nitrate plant No. 2 for the manufacture of fertilizer would involve the expenditure of several million dollars for additional equipment," Tinkler said.
Tinkler was making an inspection of the nitrate plant today.

REID MOTOR COMPANY OPENS CONTRACT BIDS

Rice and Richey, contractors engaged in the construction of the Ford garage on East Fourth street, were low bidders for the contract for constructing a garage building for the Reid Motor company. Bids were opened last night but the contract has not been definitely awarded. George R. Wells is the owner of the property.

Federal Jury Indicts Former Dry Men In Booze Scandal Probe

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Indictments charging violation of federal prohibition statutes were returned today by the federal grand jury against men formerly high up in enforcement circles.
Among thirty prominent persons indicted were Thomas Reidy of Washington, formerly acting chief of the department of justice of New York City; Harold L. Hart, former state prohibition enforcement chief here; William A. Orr, formerly secretary to Governor Whitman; Thomas B. Duffy, Tammany Hall politician; and Owen B. Murphy.
Federal officials said the men were implicated in the huge forged scandal through which booze was released from bonded warehouses on fake government slips.

BURCH PLEADS FOR RIGHT TO GO ON STAND

Suspect In Kennedy Slaying Wants To Testify In Own Defense; Schenck Hits Plan

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 4.—Arthur C. Burch, accused as the slayer of John Belfon Kennedy, today pleaded with his attorneys for permission to take the stand in his own defense.
"I could clear up the whole mess to the satisfaction of everybody," the little defendant asserted, with a jovial gesture characteristic of his usual flippancy.
Paul W. Schenck, chief defense counsel, declined to listen to his client's plea.
"We are establishing the fact that Burch is not of normal mentality," said Schenck. "An insane man is not a competent witness."
The first witness called by the prosecution was J. E. Vaughan, an expert, who is giving testimony on the peculiarities of firearms such as the gun which caused the death of young Kennedy.

"30" BULLETINS

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 4.—Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania today appeared in doubt as to the propriety of his resigning from the office to which he had been elected to become United States senator. After the funeral of Senator Penrose, Sproul will issue a statement of his intentions.

MEXICO CITY, Mex., Jan. 4.—Troops of the United States army have been ordered withdrawn from the Mexican border, according to reports here today which quoted the acting secretary of war as having confirmed the announcement.

Judgment involving payment of $4500 and surrender of a note for $600 given by F. C. Thompson, postmaster at Garden Grove, to Jean H. Bakeman, was ordered today by Judge Z. B. West in department 2 of the superior court. Thompson had filed a suit against Jean H. Bakeman, alleging that a contract entered into for the purchase of land located in Utah, and on which he had paid $4500 and given a note for $600, had been rescinded by the defendant. The court's decision causes restitution of the sum paid and the surrender of the $600 note.

FILES ESTATE ACTION

A petition was on file today in superior court on behalf of Bertha Schroeder to terminate the joint tenancy interest of her deceased husband, Hank Schroeder, in property situated at Orange. Clyde Bishop is attorney for the petitioner.

SINN FEIN HEAD TO FORCE DAIL TO DECISION ON ALLIANCE

DUBLIN, Jan. 4.—A treaty proposed by Eamonn De Valera, as an alternative for the Anglo-Irish pact is similar to the pact under consideration by the Dail Eireann, it was revealed here today. The alternative pact provides that Ireland shall have her own military facilities, that Great Britain would have the right to use Irish harbor facilities for a period of five years and at the end of that time she would withdraw unless a new arrangement was reached.

ELFELT, Jan. 4.—Belfast went through another night of terror. Three deaths, including that of a baby recently shot, were recorded. A soldier was killed and seven persons wounded. Repeated volleys of machine gun fire and heavy explosions which shook the city about midnight kept the inhabitants in a state of panic.

BY CHARLES M. McCANN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
DUBLIN, Jan. 4.—President De Valera announced today that he intends to force a vote on the peace treaty in the Dail tomorrow.
De Valera will ask the Irish parliament to vote on whether he can introduce his alternative proposal as an amendment before the actual vote on acceptance of the compact with Great Britain is taken.
The original program of the present session of the Dail called for a vote on Arthur Griffith's motion: "Resolved, that the Dail Eireann approves of the treaty which was signed by representatives of the British government and representatives of Ireland, in London, December 6, 1921."

Austen Stack, a leader of the "die hard" group, was expected to introduce a resolution for rejection of the treaty, which would first be voted upon and the defeat of which would indicate the Dail's approval of the compact.

Acceptance of De Valera's proposal and a vote favoring his alternative would sound the death knell of the treaty as it stands, for in its amended form it would necessarily have to be referred back to the British government, and Lloyd George has already indicated that any alterations in the compact would be unacceptable to Britain.

Penrose Family Keeps Plans for Funeral Secret

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 4.—Simple funeral services for Senator Boies Penrose will be held here this afternoon or tomorrow, it was rumored here today. The family maintains secrecy.
Spencer Penrose, brother of the late senator, arrived here from Colorado Springs today and as plans had been delayed pending his arrival, it was understood that the funeral, which is to be private, would be held at once.
The body will be cremated and the ashes placed in Laurel Hill cemetery, it was also rumored.

Well Directed Animated Eggs Cause Cranky Barber to Leave

The egg market at San Juan Capistrano was still holding firm today in spite of a diminished supply, most of which was said to have been carried away in the form of a plaster by a Mexican barber, now understood to have disappeared following a bombardment by the youth of his neighborhood.
Three boys, Ramon Rios, Edward Lobart and George Hunn, who admitted their successful marksmanship, were today released from custody after being held a brief period for "disturbing the peace."
From all reports, this charge gives an entirely inadequate idea of what happened.
Instead of the three boys named, there were said to be eighteen lads who enjoyed target practice with the barber representing the "bulls eye."
The barber, it appeared, resented the custom of the youth of the village to gather beneath the second story window of his shop. So one day he dropped a dustpan out of the window.
Youth isn't especially long suffering, but the dustpan drew no "rise." Several days later the barber tried an experiment with cold water.
"Shrimp" and "Skinny" and the rest of the "gang" then played revenge. From a place they knew of in a certain warehouse they gathered 200 extremely unsavory eggs. Returning to the scene of their insult they invited the barber to descend. He declined so they pelted a few eggs through an open window.
Whether he thought their ammunition was all gone or was forced to seek purer air at his own risk was not stated. But, anyway, the barber charged.
It was a tactical error as rank as the atmosphere. He was met by volley after volley of more eggs. The barber himself was proof that few shots missed.
Last of the spectacle was what seemed to be an animated omelette hanging a "for rent" sign on the barber shop.

Grave Registration Man Tells of Finding Bodies of Hanged Men

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Sitting within a few feet of the man he accused, Grayson Withrow, Baltimore, testified before the senate committee late today that he saw Major H. L. Opie, Staunton, Va., shoot down in cold blood, an American soldier in France. Opie's eyes were glued on Withrow as the former doughboy made the sensational charge. The shooting occurred in the Argonne forest, October 8, 1918, Withrow said.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The startling accusation that an American lieutenant colonel by the name of "Hahn" or "Haan" directed the illegal lynching of two American negro soldiers at Givres, France, was made before the senate committee late today by Harry W. Siegel, Dorchester, Mass. Siegel declared he saw the lieutenant colonel lead a group of army engineers through a negro barracks, pull two of the negro soldiers out of bed and hang them.

United Press Staff Correspondent
By LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Alleged cold blooded shootings of two American soldiers in France, one by a private at the direction of an officer and the other by a lieutenant, were described today by Polk Golden of Newman, Ga., a former soldier, before the investigating committee. . . . Golden swore he witnessed both shootings.

One of the soldiers, Golden charged, was shot by a guard at an officer's command, because he started for a spring to get a drink of water. He had gone without a drink for twenty-four hours, Golden said.

Shot by Lieutenant
The other soldier, the witness declared, was shot down by a lieutenant because he had struggled behind in a march.

"We were on the way from Saint Mihiel into the Argonne sector when the first shooting occurred," Golden said. "We had gone for twenty-four hours without water when we stopped to rest near a spring. Guards were posted to keep the men from going to the spring, but one man took his canteen and said he was going anyway." He started out and when he refused to halt, the guard shot him.

The second alleged shooting, Golden said, came when his company was on the march.
"A man who had dropped behind failed to report to the lieutenant and when he finally came up the lieutenant pulled his .45 and shot him dead," Golden said.

Refutes Charges
Emmett Cockran, of Savannah, former lieutenant with the 369th (negro) infantry of New York, appeared before the committee to refute charges he said had been made against him in connection with the investigation.

Cockran shot a negro soldier who was creating a disturbance in a French town, was tried by court martial for murder and acquitted. "The negroes were terrorizing the town," Cockran said, "and I was ordered to quell the disturbance and put the disorderly men under arrest. I shot a negro just as he was leveling a carbine at me. It was his life or mine and I got him and the court martial cleared me."

American soldiers were hanged in France and their bodies sent home hangman's "black cap" still over their heads, the committee was told by Rufus P. Hubbard of New York.

Saw Bodies of Victims
Hubbard, formerly with the army graves registration service, said he came across the bodies of three hanged privates at the Bazailles-Surmeuse cemetery in France about January 1, 1921.

"The ropes were still around their necks and the black caps still over

SISTER-IN-LAW METZGAR PLANS OF DEFENDANT AGAINST HIM TO LEAVE POST AS SECRETARY

Mrs. J. H. Stern, young sister-in-law of the defendant and star witness against him, was the human battleground over which were waged today the closing scenes of S. M. Stern's trial on a charge of embezzling the American Legion $5,000 rifle car.

Although the defense was able yesterday to block her testimony by objecting on the ground that conversation and information passing between Mrs. Stern and her husband, who has already confessed to the crime, was "privileged," and could not be used, she was permitted today to take the stand and testify to conversations at which the defendant, S. M. Stern, was present, and which delivered apparently damning blows at the defense.

That she had heard a conversation between the Stern Brothers at St. Ann's Inn just before they left with the Premier car on the journey, which ended with their arrest in Salt Lake City, was related by the young wife, now estranged from the husband. At that time, she said, they spoke of heading for the Canadian border and disposing of the car in Canada.

When they reached Yosemite park, she said, S. M. Stern suggested that they use assumed names. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stern then passed as Mr. and Mrs. H. Lusk. The other couple used the name of William Snell.

Morris Phillips, Los Angeles attorney who is defending Stern, cross-examined Mrs. Stern with an evident attempt to show that she was being supported here at county expense and had been promised a reward or threatened with prosecution before appearing as a witness for the state. This the witness denied.

Objections by Deputy District C. N. Mozley blocked many of Phillips' questions concerning the private life of the witness and her husband, and also questions as to means of her present support, except as they related to the authorities. These he made no objection to.

In reply to a question by Phillips as to whether she and her brother-in-law, the defendant, were friendly, Mrs. Stern said:

"So far as I am concerned, we are. I have no ill feelings toward him."

J. H. Stern, her husband and the defendant's brother, was expected to take the stand later today to testify for the defense. At his arraignment in court on the charge a few days ago, he confessed to the embezzlement, absolved his brother from blame, and in a dramatic statement, stated that his wife had left him, he had nothing to live for, and was not live long as he was suffering from cancer of the heart and lungs.

The case was expected to reach the jury before the close of today's session of court.

charities, etc., were several times the cost of membership and dues," declared the attorney. "If you don't believe this, try operations for a year without the service of the association and you will be fully convinced."

"What business man would deny a local organization seeking funds through a valueless advertising proposition or for direct donations, if he knew that his competitor would make donations. This is not the sole purpose of the association, but it is one of the most important."

W. H. Spurgeon jr. spoke on "Members' Duty to the Organization." He declared it to be the duty of every merchant to hold membership, and that every member should live up to the rules. Members should co-operate and make the M. and M. a power and factor for the advancement of the city, he said.

Financial Report
Sam Hurwitz, treasurer, in his financial report showed receipts for the year were $2648.37, which, with a credit balance of $599.21, gave the M. and M. a total of $3247.58 for the year's operations. Withdrawals for expenses, etc., amounted to $2411.46, leaving a remainder of $836.12. The reports disclosed that the Greater Santa Ana exposition returned the association $1180.56 for the two displays, with an expense of $165.16 chargeable to the expositions.

Report of Secretary
Among items in the annual report of Secretary Metzgar were the following:

"Nineteen hundred and twenty-one was not particularly noted for membership loyalty to the organization's rules. Some of the members thoughtlessly and unnecessarily fell for schemes that not only violated long-established rules, but cost these members money they could have saved for a better cause. It is especially true in this organization that 'In Union there is Strength.' It is also true of this organization that in a co-operative observance of the rules there is profit."

"Among the violations during the year were the following and those among you who have partaken of the forbidden fruit will doubtless remember the occasions: 'Calendars are getting entirely too numerous, cook books, bulletin boards in depots, cafes, etc., publications before being regularly established, contributions of prizes for, and advertising on the occasion of the Volunteers of America 'Tag Day Sale.'"

Accomplishments
"During the year under review your board of directors held twenty-eight meetings, all in the interests of the membership. The directors and committeemen worked untiringly in the service of the association. The work included every possible effort to control advertising matters and the elimination of many schemes of value only to the promoters thereof. A hard worked and unknown group of three members form the advertising committee. It is a secret committee for the reason that few men would serve upon it otherwise. If the members were known they would have their decisions influenced by various means, such as threats of loss of customers, etc. This committee during the year has rendered decisions affecting probably more than one hundred different plans and schemes for extracting coin of the realm from your tills. The secretary necessarily acts as the go-between and bears the brunt of this phase of the work. It is occasionally asserted that the advertising committee is a myth and the secretary is the committee, but there are present tonight a goodly number of our best and most level-headed business men who have served on this committee and the former presidents who appoints them will testify to the fact that there has always been and there is now a perfectly good advertising committee of three members."

Additional Activities
"The association was further active as follows: Investigated alleged unfair prices prevailing in Santa Ana; adjusted several disputed accounts; endorsed proposed one per cent turn over federal tax; recommended Sunday closing in all lines of business; condemned so-called suit clubs, one case being referred to the association's attorney for investigation; recommended that city officials mail statement of money due for city license tax as an accommodation to business men and prevention of delinquency; special sales days were established by a committee appointed for the purpose; endorsed 'clean-up' and 'paint-up' week; entered float in Armistice

WIFE LOSES AS BATHING CRUX IN DIVORCE

Holding that the frequency of bathing is a matter of taste and not subject to judicial cognizance; also that a skin disease afflicting Henry Dahnke, Orange rancher, is not contagious and not a menace to the health of his wife, the district court of appeals has reversed the Orange county superior court that gave a decree of divorce to Dahnke's wife, Thelma Dahnke.

The grounds for cruelty on which the interlocutory decree was granted some months ago by Judge Z. B. West, was questioned by the appellate court, whither Dahnke took his appeal from the lower court.

The skin disease, according to the opinion delivered by Judge Thaw and concurred in by Judges Conroy and James of the appellate court, consisted of lack of oil in the skin which caused it to scale. It was not contagious and, inasmuch as the wife had lived with him seven years without suffering in health, it was held not to be a menace. The wife could and should have informed herself of the disease before marriage, the court held, alleging that no fraud had been attempted by the husband.

Mrs. Dahnke had charged that her husband bathed infrequently but the appellate court, taking the position that circumstances alter cases, refused to consider that point.

With respect to further charges concerning alleged loathsome habits of the defendant, the opinion held that no evidence had been given to support the charge.

Dahnke appealed the case through his attorneys, Eden and Koepsel. Head and Rutan and Charles D. Swanner represented Mrs. Dahnke.

their heads," Hubbard declared. "We sent the bodies that way to the soldiers' homes in the United States."

Hubbard said he thought two of the soldiers were negroes and the other white.

Gray charges against Major H. L. Opie, of Staunton, Va., were given again under the congressional searchlight today as the senate committee resumed its investigation of alleged illegal hangings and killings in the A. E. F.

Witnesses Increasing
When Opie will be called to defend himself was in doubt, but members of the committee said it probably will be after about twenty accusing witnesses have been heard, and these are increasing in number daily.

Earl D. Watson of Flint, Mich., told the committee he saw three soldiers hanged at Is-Sur-Tille, France. Samuel H. Pierbaugh, Detroit, said he saw one white soldier and one negro hanged at the same place. He said another negro was hanged there but he didn't see it.

day parade; endorsed Community hospital fund campaign; recommended one hour and a half time limit for automobile parking in congested district; the board of directors agreed to act as a committee in conjunction with a farm bureau committee to handle complaints against members, and approved the establishment of a credit bureau.

Members Present
Under the "good of the association," brief remarks were made by A. N. Zerman, W. H. Spurgeon jr., Sam Stein, E. B. Sprague, H. J. Lowe, H. J. Forgy, Max Reinhaus and F. P. Nickey.

The following were present: W. H. Spurgeon jr., Lemont McFadden, Max Reinhaus, Charles L. Davis, Charles F. Mitchell, H. J. Forgy, Mayor John C. Mitchell, Councilman C. H. Chapman, Councilman J. W. Twisted Cords
Running through the telephone cord are a number of delicate, flexible wires. "Kinks" are formed when this cord is allowed to become twisted, and some of these wires may be bent or broken. This means a "noisy" telephone line. You cannot hear or be heard as well. In fact, a twisted cord may cause a complete interruption of your service. Keeping the telephone cord straight will give you greater satisfaction in the use of your telephone.

CHARGES CAR AHEAD CAUSE OF COLLISION

Damage to two automobiles in a collision on the Santa Ana-Seal Beach boulevard had been reported today to the sheriff's office by B. F.
Carpenter of Long Beach, driver of one of the cars, the other belonging to I. J. Clark of Huntington Beach.
Carpenter stated that a third car traveling ahead of him stopped suddenly without giving a signal. This he said, caused him to skid partially across the boulevard in trying to avoid striking the car ahead. His car skidded in front of Clark's car, which was coming from the opposite direction. The fenders of both machines were bent.

STEAL SHERIFF'S CAR

Sheriff D. B. Newell of Bakers-field was today searching for a stolen Hudson speedster, with possibly more than usual interest because of the fact that the stolen car was his own machine. Sheriff C. E. Jackson was keeping a lookout for the car.

According to announcement made here today, a meeting of the Parent-Teacher association of Garden Grove is to be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Garden Grove grammar school. It is to be open to all persons interested in the school.
An interesting program has been arranged for the occasion.

With simplicity and military solemnity, the body of George Hoven-stein, Santa Ana Grand Army veteran who died suddenly Thursday evening while visiting at the home of his daughter at Brawley, were laid at rest in Fairhaven cemetery at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Members of Sedgwick Post, No. 17, G. A. R. were in charge of the services at the grave, and comrades of the deceased acted as bearers. The Rev. John Oliver, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiated at the burial service. The body reached Smith and Tuthill's funeral parlors yesterday afternoon. No services were held in the chapel.

City licenses taxes are due for the first quarter of 1922 and will become delinquent January 15, according to Ed Vegely, city clerk. A penalty of 10 per cent will be added after the 15th.

Arthur M. Hoos, of Oakland, expert copy writer and market and merchandise analyst, has accepted a position with the Crawford Advertising agency at 413 North Main street.

Sid Allender, formerly with the meter repair shop of the Southern Counties Gas company, has succeeded G. L. Glazner as local collector for the company, Glazner having resigned.

Alfred E. Hawley, Orange county player who underwent an operation at the Anaheim hospital yesterday, was reported as resting quietly today and hospital reports were to the effect that no serious complications had resulted. Hawley, who is 74 years old, has been ill for several weeks and was removed from his Newport home last Saturday. The patient has been a resident of this county for thirty-five years. He is the proprietor of the Hawley sporting goods store here.

The opening gun in the 1922 season of state societies' picnic reunions was fired here today when it was announced that a Utah-Idaho rally would be held at Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles, all day Saturday, January 14. The usual registers, souvenir badges, hot coffee and popular program will obtain. Additional information may be had of C. H. Parsons, Continental bank building, 901 South Main street, Los Angeles. It was stated. The telephone number is 10261.

An attendance of fully 150 is expected at the First Methodist church here tonight when the Fellowship supper is held at 6:15. An interesting program has been arranged and the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church, will deliver a brief address to the assembled guests immediately after the supper. Following the dinner, five classes will meet for the purpose of hearing talks by the Rev. John Oliver, James H.
Hughes, Miss May Beamer, Miss Blanche Collins and others. Bible study will be featured by those in charge of the respective classes.

Public display of firearms and other deadly weapons would be illegal in the event that a proposed measure is enacted at the next session of the state legislature. A committee has been formed in Los Angeles for the purpose of circulating petitions to have such an act placed on the next state ballot. The act, if adopted, would prohibit promiscuous sale of guns and knives to unauthorized persons. Various civic, commercial and insurance organizations are said to favor the measure.

Within a few days some of the new peace dollars are expected to be in limited circulation in Santa Ana, several hundred thousand of the new coins having been consigned to federal reserve banks on the Pacific coast.
The new dollar was minted in commemoration of the arms conference now in session at Washington. There will be 180,000,000 of the new coins struck, half of them to bear the 1921 date, and the remainder will be dated 1922.

When John A. Pierce, son of F. O.
Pierce, 305 Fruit street, returned from Nicaragua, where he was stationed as a United States Marine, he brought with him a curious animal, termed a pesote in the locality in which it was found. The sea soldier is now engaged in guarding United States mail trains running between Los Angeles and Phoenix, Ariz., but the Nicaraguan pet continues to thrive at its new home here, exhibiting a fondness for sweets.

TAX EXEMPTIONS APPLY TO 1921 INCOMES

Exemptions of $2500 for married persons and $400 for dependents, provided in the new income tax law and effective on returns for 1921, will save many thousands of dollars to Orange county income taxpayers, according to declarations made by E. B. Burns, deputy collector in Orange county for the United States internal revenue bureau, in an address today before the Kiwanis club at St. Ann's Inn.

Burns made it clear that these exemptions are available to payers who have to file returns in 1922 for incomes for 1921. There has been considerable doubt on this point, information being given out immediately following the adoption of the new regulations that the exemptions could not be applied to the 1921 returns.

Burns asserts that there are many hundreds of income payers in the county in the $2000 class and the increased exemptions will come as great relief to them. Tax rates remain the same.

There is no increase in exemptions for single persons.

Who Must File

He referred to three classes that must file reports.

First, all single persons, and they include widows and widowers and husbands and wives who are living apart voluntarily, with net incomes of $1000 or over.

Second, all married persons with net incomes of $2000 or over, regardless of whether the exemption would relieve them of paying a tax.

Third, every person with a gross income of $5000 or more, regardless of net income and exemption of $2-000. This is a new feature in the law. The other two points are old, but emphasized to make them clear.

Of particular interest to Orange county farmers is a new provision applicable to 1921 returns, making it possible for a farmer to carry a loss over from one year to the next.
For instance, if a farmer in 1921 sustains a loss of $1500 and in 1922 he shows net income of $1000, one thousand dollars of the loss in 1922 can be absorbed in loss exemption, and the $500 can be applied the following year should income show a net sufficient to absorb the $500. A loss can be carried over for a period of three years. In order to avail themselves of this provision farmers must keep books and keep them systematically and accurately.

Limits Capital Tax

Another provision that will be effective for 1922 returns is one limiting the tax on capital increases to 12 1/2 per cent. Gains through capital increases must be kept separate from income from other sources. The maximum rate was established to encourage investment of capital in industrial enterprises. The duplicate collector announces definitely that as soon as income blanks are available information will be given out through the press. Blanks will be sent from the Los Angeles office to those who filed returns for 1920.
Burns does not have blanks at this time and none will be available until received by the Los Angeles office and forwarded here.

Robert Brown delighted Kiwanians at the meeting with three vocal selections.

Robert Atkinson, manager of the Reid Motor company, was chairman.

Plans were discussed for bringing
E. B. De Grote of Los Angeles to Santa Ana to address a joint meeting of the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions clubs on the subject of play

United Press Leased Wire

WALL ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—The constructive factors of the day on the New York stock exchange included a reduction of the call money rate to four per cent which is the lowest figure since November 15, last, and a hardening of the raw sugar market.

The net result was an improvement in security prices, although early in the session, many stocks were driven new lows on the current decline. The volume in the first hour was heavy and included, of course, many overnight selling orders of the wire houses. With these cleared up, however, the whole list turned upward, although the volume diminished greatly on the recovery.

There were indications on Tuesday that banking support had been at least temporarily withdrawn from the market. Two weeks ago, bear operators who were sure of a reaction as a result of the big financial interests were driving stocks down, but at that time their driving tactics disclosed the fact that the big financial interests were solidly against the market. With this difference, stocks naturally have reacted and could react much further without indicating a return to the bear market.
Stocks advanced almost without interruption for nearly four months and a week of reaction would be normal.
The market closed higher.

Closing prices included:
U. S. Steel, $3 5/8, up 1/8; Baldwin,
95 1/2, up 1/2; Mexican Petroleum,

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE
CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—Grain prices advanced on the Chicago Board of Trade today when overnight news displayed pessimistic reports of yesterday, which caused big slumps. The market opened generally higher, particularly wheat, but the demand of the commission houses was soon satisfactory and the market quickly slumped. Provisions were higher.

JUSTICE AT ANAHEIM DECIDES TO EMULATE HIS FAMOUS NEIGHBOR

(Special to The Register)
ANAHEIM, Jan. 4.—Roused by alleged violations of the city ordinance governing automobile traffic in the city, and determined to break up the practice of speeding in the downtown streets, Justice J. S. Howard declared today violators of the speed laws in this city will be severely dealt with if brought before him for trial.
Violators will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law, Justice Howard said, and he will send the speeders to jail, regardless of who they may be. Justice Howard said his attention had been directed to violations of the law during the holiday period, and he now has several cases before him for disposal. The justice also made it clear that parking violations will be given strict attention during the new year.

DISAPPEARANCE OF GIRLS UNEXPLAINED

Fear that Grace Viola Chandler,
17, of West Anaheim, and Virginia Sieber, 14, of Olinda, who disappeared within a space of twenty-four hours, have been forcibly abducted, was causing worry today to their families and friends, while the authorities, pursued an unrewarded search for them.

Sheriff C. E. Jackson and the local police, who had joined in the search were bending every effort to uncover the trail of one or both girls, which was lost at Anaheim.

The understanding originally gained by the authorities that Miss Chandler was in the company of two sailors, when last seen at Anaheim last Saturday, was today corrected by her father. She was with a girl friend, he stated. Her absence is still a complete mystery.

The whereabouts of Virginia Sieber, the adopted daughter of an Olinda family, who was seen at Anaheim Sunday afternoon after she had failed to return home from church in Fairhaven that morning, was also unknown and her absence as inexplicable as when her disappearance was first discovered.

PROPOSES SHIP LINE, NEWPORT TO SAN DIEGO

A former gunboat of the United States navy, stripped of its warlike equipment and made over into a passenger vessel, may be plying between Newport harbor and San Diego soon after the completion of development work at the local port.

This became known at a meeting of the Orange county harbor commission at Newport Beach today when it was revealed that S. A.
Leffingwell, of Portland, Ore., and formerly of Talbert, southwest of Santa Ana, is desirous of operating a passenger steamer between the two ports, whenever the harbor work is completed.

It was disclosed that Leffingwell has been conducting negotiations for the purchase of one of two vessels, one of which would cost $40-000 and the other $50,000. One of these is the old gunboat Yorktown, from which the armaments, turrets and like equipment have been removed.

Leffingwell, it was stated, is so favorably impressed by the prospects of future development of Newport harbor that he has rented a house at Balboa, pending the completion of the harbor improvements.

If he installs the passenger service in question he will ask only the co-operation of the public, it was said.

The remodeled Yorktown would have a capacity of 600 passengers and the other ship under consideration would have a capacity of 400.

The Newport harbor-San Diego trip by sea might prove extremely popular among tourists visiting the Southland, it was pointed out.

Engineer Charles T. Leeds today told the harbor commission that the dredger that has been operating in the bay has been laid up for repairs for several days. Operations will probably be resumed shortly, he said.

SEEKS ESTATE ORDER

Mary E. Rider had today filed a petition in superior court for letters of administration over the estate of Oliver A. Cotton, who died December 29, last, in Santa Ana, leaving an estate valued at $2800 consisting of personal property. With the exception of the petitioner the heirs are all non-residents of this county. M.
B. Wellington is attorney for the petitioner.

Chiropractic Adjustments will Effect a Cure

As a chain is no stronger than its weakest link, so is it true of the spinal column in its relation to the body.

The spinal column is the index to your general health and if there is any weakness it will be found here. Undue pressure on the nerves—the cause of most ailments—can be cured by Chiropractic—the science of adjustment.

The principles of Chiropractic were founded in 1895. Today there are more than 10,000 practicing this science and more than 5,000,000 who have been helped by it.

CABINET CHANGE SEEN AS FILMS BID FOR HAYS

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Postmaster General Hayes is personally disposed toward accepting the offer to become head of the motion picture industry of America, although his final decision is still under consideration, it was learned authoritatively today.

While the offer of a three-year contract at a net salary of $100,000 a year, exclusive of all income taxes, is admittedly appealing, Hays does not want to make a move at this time which might be construed as a desertion of the Harding administration.

Has New Policies.

He is also in the midst of working out a number of policies in the postoffice department which he wants to see realized before he leaves the cabinet. Whether the policies will be carried out if he resigns is understood to be the question on which his decision is hanging.

Hays spent two hours at the White House on his return here yesterday and he will hold another conference with the president within the next few days.

President Harding is said to be reluctant to have his cabinet disarranged so soon after the beginning of his administration but Hays has assurance that the president will interpose no obstacle in the way of a resignation.

Hays is attracted by the educational feature of the proposed job. The movie industry, now fourth in the United States, offers opportunities for educational work yet scarcely touched, he thinks.

Look For Successor.
Speculation as to the next postmaster general is even. Hays resigns is already being widely indulged in here. William Boyce Thompson of New York, a close friend of Hays and a prominent Republican, is mentioned as a possibility.

Others whose names are being discussed include Senator New, Indiana; Fred W. Upham, Chicago, treasurer of the Republican national committee; John T. Adams, who succeeded Hays as chairman of the national committee, and John T. King, former national committeeman of Connecticut.

OFFICERS ARE VIGILANT
BUT HAVE WRONG CLUE

When San Bernardino authorities discovered an abandoned Essex touring car near that city registered under the name of Ross Munger, 832 South Sacramento street, Santa Ana, they notified the local police, thinking the car had been stolen here. But an investigation here revealed today that Munger had moved to San Bernardino, and it was thought that his car had either been stalled or that he had left it temporarily. The San Bernardino police were informed that the owner lives in their city.

The claim of $1,444, made by Townsend and Meubner, local automobile dealers, in a suit against L. Hemmerling, was today under advisement with the court. Superior Judge R. Y. Williams heard the trial of the case yesterday. Suit was based on a promissory note given by Hemmerling to the plaintiffs. Testimony of the trial was to the effect that the note had been given to cover an alleged non-fund check, issued to the plaintiffs by Hemmerling's son. Payment of the note was refused by Hemmerling, who made the defense that no consideration had been received in exchange for the note.

JACK PICKFORD
DENIES RUMOR
OF MARRIAGE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 4.—"I will sue anyone who says I am married to Marilyn Miller."

Jack Pickford thus emphatically denied today reports that he and the star of "Sally," New York musical comedy, had been married for three weeks, and that he came to Hollywood after Florenz Ziegfeld, theatrical producer, strenuously objected to the match.

"That's absurd," Pickford said. "Certainly I haven't married Miss Miller. I'm not engaged to her. I don't think she is engaged to anyone."

Pickford also asserted he had no intention of marrying Miss Miller.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Broadway was full of rumors today that Jack Pickford had married Marilyn Miller.

"I am not married to him," Miss Miller insisted.

"I am not engaged to him. I have no intention of becoming engaged to him or of marrying him."

Florenz Ziegfeld, producer of "Sally," in which Miss Miller stars, declares he had heard nothing of the reported romance.

"So far as I know they are not married," he said, "and they won't be during the life of Miss Miller's contract."

COAL MINERS MAKE NEW STRIKE THREAT

United Press Leased Wire
INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 4.—A new threat of a strike of bituminous coal miners of America was seen here today when a preliminary wage conference between miners and operators was cancelled by the union.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, declared that certain mine operators in Pennsylvania and Ohio, who had forced calling off the conference by refusing to attend would be compelled to meet the miners "in due time by circumstances."

The meeting was scheduled to have been held in Pittsburgh this week. Mine operators in Indiana and Illinois had conditionally accepted the proposal to attend the conference.

Lewis would not say what the next step of the miners would be, but his statement was interpreted in mine union headquarters here to mean that if the operators would not consent to a conference by April 1, when the present contract expires, a walkout would result.

ENTER PROTEST AGAINST RULES OF ASSESSING

With an attorney to plead their cause, twenty owners of North Main street corner lots have filed a protest against the assessment made by Street Superintendent Edward Dahl for the payment of the paving of intersections on North Main between Seventh street and the north city limits. They contend that the assessment is void.

The property owners on the protest contend that Dahl has given corner lots the lion's share of the cost of paving intersections.

Assessment Methods
Under the assessment district law, a property owner is assessed for all of the paving in front of his property. In addition he must pay for a proportion of the intersection nearest to him. For instance, on the east side of Main between Seventh and Eighth streets are six lots. The three lots nearest Seventh must pay for the cost of paving the piece of intersection north of the center line of Seventh street and east of the Pacific Electric tracks.

It is contended by the protesting corner lot owner that Dahl in making out his assessments used the frontage of the corner lot facing on Main and added to it the frontage the lot has on the side street. This total has to stand against the Main street frontage of the inside lot. That is, a corner lot with 50 feet on Main and 125 feet on the side street has a total of 175 feet while the 50-foot lot next door has a total of 50 feet.

It seems that many of the owners of 50-foot corner lots have received bills for paving totaling from $500 to $550, while the owner of the same frontage adjoining on an inside lot has a bill of from $100 to $150 less.

Plaintiffs' Contentions
Attorney W. F. Menton, who represents the protesting owners, contends that frontage on side streets should be considered. He says the law specifically states that the assessments for cost of paving intersections must be made "according to benefits."

The protest is to be heard by the board of city trustees, which has authority to change Dahl's assessment figures.

"Our contention," said Menton, "is that the street superintendent used a method of arriving at assessments that is not the method laid down by the law. The law as I find it provides that the assessment district shall be divided into areas and the intersection cost shall be assessed against those areas according to benefits derived. Our contention is that the method followed by the street superintendent is not only inequitable and unfair but is also void under the law."

BETTY LOU

WELL, here it is another year. Scarcely seems as if a day had passed since the last time we were all wishing each other "Happy New Year," does it? But time flies, and we have to fly with it. So I must "fly" to tell you what I've found in Santa Ana this week.

THE saying "Kodak knows no dark days" has certainly proved true with us, for we've taken several views, both exterior and interior, lately. We've had the developing and printing done at ROWLEY'S KODAK SHOP, and we've been delighted with the success of our pictures. Kodakery is certainly a "favorite sport" with us.

—Spanish combs, brightly jeweled, are worn in the evening.

DURING the winter months when fresh vegetables are not so plentiful I'm always glad to be able to get reliable brands of canned goods at GERRARD BROTHERS. They carry all the leading brands and their cafeteria style of service makes it so one can pick out what one wants, pay for it, and be on one's way again, all in a jiffy.

IT does seem as if our family swears by the BARR LUMBER COMPANY. No sooner do we finish building our own home than Brother Ted and Marjorie decide they want to build, too. Already they've chosen the plans, with the aid of Barr's home planning department, and have decided on the woods they're going to use in the interior finishing. One of the nice things about Barr's is their ability to furnish just the right kind of wood for each part of the house.

—Pheasant feathers are smart for the duvety hat.

DID someone mention New Years resolutions? I had promised myself not to make any, but there's one I've made any way, promise or no promise. That's to take the car to the ORANGE COUNTY IGNITION WORKS for regular battery inspection every two weeks. It won't be a bit hard to keep, either, for I'm convinced that that is the best way to keep the battery in shape all the year around.

RAINY weather certainly is hard on clothes, but it never seriously worries Anita and me, for we send all our clothes to the CRYSTAL CLEANERS to be cleaned, and they always come back looking just like new. The Crystal, you know, uses the most up to date machinery and each worker is a specialist in his own line. All the work is done right here in the plant, too.

United Press Leased Wire
HOQUIAM, Wash., Jan. 4.—The launch Milkmaid, of San Francisco, found wrecked on the beach four miles south of Westport last night, was discovered today to have 300 cases of whiskey, worth about $30,000, on board.

Two bodies were found by the Westport life saving crew. One of them has been identified as Hjalmar Bjorkholm, 421 Druff street, San Francisco. The body of the other is unknown. Both bodies were found in the launch covered with sand.

The craft was thought to have lost her bearings in a light fog. Captain O. C. Hawthorne of the life saving station turned the liquor over to the authorities.

According to Hawthorne, several more men who must have been members of the crew escaped when the vessel beached.

MRS. STILLMAN WILL HEAR NEW WITNESSES

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 4.—Mrs. James A. Stillman, wife of the former president of the National City bank of New York, who is being sued for divorce, was here today and expects to remain for the hearing of a score of Canadian witnesses in the case.

Mrs. Stillman arrived here from Quebec, where she spent the holiday with her son James (Bud), and one of her attorneys.

WARSHIP SLIGHTLY DAMAGED IN CRASH

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 4.—The battleship North Dakota and the schooner T. K. Bentley collided off Nantucket light last night, according to a wireless message received today.

The battleship was slightly damaged and is making for the Charlestown navy yard for repairs. The schooner had her head boom and gear carried away. A tug from the Chatham naval base has been sent to her aid. No one was injured, the message said.

WE had such delicious cake at Anita's New Years party. I had it specially made at the DRAGON, and it certainly did disappear when the youngsters once started in on it. Dragon baked goods can always be depended on to appeal to young or old, I've found.

—Beads of all sorts are used to trim smart one piece dresses.

I DO love potted plants, and I was so pleased when Jerry brought home a lovely Cyclamen from MORRIS THE FLORIST. I'd heard me admire it one day when we were in there, and said he thought he'd give me a "New Year" present. He's so thoughtful about things like that.

THERE are so many different ways to use and serve dairy products. The EXCELSIOR CREAMERY is putting on a campaign now with the slogan "Use More Dairy Products," and I'm sure we all should, for they are among the most nourishing of foods. Excelsior Dairy Products are especially nourishing because of their purity. Whenever it's milk, cream, butter, buttermilk, cottage cheese or ice cream, I call 237 and order it from the Excelsior Creamery.

THE store that can stand the test of time is the store that is pretty apt to be conducted on sterling principles of honesty and integrity. And when that store is at the same time up to date and right on the spot in supplying the wants of its patrons, I'm going to do my buying there every time. ROWLEY'S DRUG STORE fills this description perfectly, which is one of the reasons why our family patronizes it when ever possible.

BROTHER Ted and Marjorie have just gotten the most wonderful new dining room set from CHANDLER'S FURNITURE STORE. It certainly is a beauty. If ours weren't so lovely I'd almost be tempted to be a bit envious. But ours is from Chandler's too, so as it is I'm just glad that Marjorie profited by our example and found such a good value.

FOR many reason, Jerry didn't get as many ties as usual last Christmas, so he said he was going to make himself an "after Christmas" present, and get half a dozen or so at the WARDROBE. And that means that he'll be completely satisfied with them, for Wardrobe ties always suit him so well.

Of Visitor In the North

Welcoming the return of Mrs. Max Reinhaus from a three months' stay in San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. George Balderston last night entertained a few friends at whist at their pleasant home, 221 South Main street.

The hospitable home was decked with flowers in a prevailing note of pink against a background of green and at the conclusion of the series of games when refreshments were served, the same color note was accentuated. Honors in the game were won by W. D. Barker and Mrs. Lloyd Grubb and to them was awarded prizes for their prowess.

The invited guests who welcomed Mrs. Reinhaus again to their midst, included Messrs. and Mesdames: Max Reinhaus, O. M. Robbins, W. L. Grubb, Frank True, W. D. Barker, H. T. Trueblood, Arthur Pease, W. B. Whitson, T. A. Winbigger, John Cochran, W. L. Clevenger, Miss Pauline Reinhaus, Mrs. H. H. Reeves, Mrs. W. L. Tubbs sr., and Mr. Julius Reinhaus.

Family and Friends Gather For New Year's Dinner

Entertaining a group of friends and relatives, Mrs. Lina Mooman was hostess at a delightful turkey dinner on New Year's day.

Christmas garlands made the home a gay holiday scene and Mrs. Mooman was assisted in receiving and entertaining her guests by her daughter, Mrs. L. B. Hill of Whittier.

In the dining room, scarlet point settees were used effectively and formed the centerpiece on the attractive dining table where places were indicated by means of pretty hand painted cards for the following, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Mooman and family of Los Angeles; Dr. C. E. Mooman and family, San Bernardino; Mr. and Mrs. John Strassberger, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Hill, Whittier and the hostess, Mrs. Mooman.

Merry Watch Party
At Stinchfield Home

Gathered to watch the death of the old year, a group of young people had a merry time Saturday night at the G. W. Stinchfield home in Greenville.

The living and dining rooms were gaily bedecked with bows and garlands of holiday colors and the evening was delightfully spent with flinch, rook and other games. Mr. Jack Morgan proved to be the prize winner of the evening's series of games.

Long after the new year was safely across the threshold, a delicious repast of sandwiches, pickles, cake, candy, hot chocolate and apples was served the guests who included Miss Ethel Wiley of Anaheim, the Misses Harriet, Hazel and Velda May Stinchfield of the home, Messrs. Roy Davis, Santa Ana, Jack Morgan and Fred Bolz of Anaheim and G. W. Stinchfield.

Holiday Wedding Results
From High School Romance

Among the many interesting holiday weddings, was that of Miss Doris May Stewart, daughter of Mrs. Anna Stewart, 620 Spurgeon street, and Ralph Charles Scally, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Scally, of Anaheim.

The wedding was an event of Saturday afternoon, December 31, and was solemnized at the parsonage of the First Methodist church with the Rev. John Oliver officiating. The young people were accompanied by their parents, Mrs. Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. Scally, and after receiving their congratulations and good wishes, left on a brief trip with the intention of returning to Anaheim to reside in a new home which is under process of construction.

The pretty wedding was the outgrowth of a romance beginning in school days when both Mr. Scally and Miss Stewart were students at Santa Ana high school from which they graduated with the class of 1920, all members of which join with other friends in extending good wishes.

Nosegays--and Clubs

It has been said that, in progress, one is very sure to find that study is like travel in effect upon the mind—for just as mind is broadened by the sight of lands afar, so does study on a subject, set another corner ajar.

The women of this land of ours, whose place is in the home, feel that they rise to greater heights by obstacles overcome, and if they cannot see the world and roam its surface over, they do the next best thing and bring the world clear to their door.

The Santa Ana Ebells was primarily designed to open the doors of science to the busy woman's mind. The president, who served its first and urged her friends to come and organize the woman's club at J. R. Medlock's home, was Mrs. W. R. Bartlett; in the time since she held away, twelve presidents have served the club up to the present day.

Now, Mrs. Clarkson holds the chair with dignity and grace and acts with skill and judgment in that important place. In every move for common good, the Ebells members stand—a firm, a yielding phalanx—a strong and loyal band of women, a strong and worthy project, and civic plan as well as put in execution by the women of Ebells.

Just now, they're agitating a clubhouse of their own, for they have no place to fit them, so rapidly they've grown. And their active lot committee, (Mrs. Campau in the chair) has a lot all bought and paid for, and to be erected there is a modern, ample clubhouse, where, in not far distant day, Santa Ana's Ebells members, all will study, work and play.

Friends Surprised by New Year's Announcement
Of September Wedding Day

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Wright, of Atwood, announce the marriage of their daughter, Juanita Marie Wright, to Mr. Warren Cornell Fletcher, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. O. Fletcher, of Santa Ana.

The announcement on New Year's day came as a great surprise to the families and friends of both young people, the wedding having occurred September 17, 1920, on the island of Alameda, with the Rev. Herbert Thomson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Alameda, officiating.

Both young people are graduates of the Santa Ana high school, and the bride is a graduate of the college of commerce at the University of California, southern branch, where she was a member of the Sigma Alpha Kappa sorority, and social secretary of the university.

The groom attended the University of California last year as a student in the college of engineering. He is a member of Kappa Alpha, Clever at amateur theatricals, he has taken leading parts in the plays produced by the Santa Ana Community plays and recently won splendid success in his portrayal of "Laurie" in "Little Women."

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher will be at home to their many friends in the cozy apartment they have taken at the Fowler apartment house on South Ross street.

Enjoy Tournament and Game
On New Year's Visit

Returning from a delightful New Year's visit with the Rev. and Mrs. Stanley H. Bailes, of Highland Park, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert P. Rankin report that both the Rev. Mr. Bailes and Mrs. Bailes are delighted with their new home, and also that the members of their congregation, of the Grace Presbyterian church, are equally delighted with their services.

On Monday, the members of the pleasant little house party witnessed the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena, and later attended the East-West football game, Mr. and Mrs. Rankin returned to their home here, last night.

During her mission work in China, Miss Hill collected and classified all the flowers of the province in which she lived, bringing home twelve volumes of drawings and paintings to illustrate her work. Many of the specimens had never before been classified. She was offered the chair of botany in the Shanghai college, but refused it, as it conflicted with her missionary duties.

Mrs. Ruby Hickox and daughters, the Misses Ruth and Jewel Hickox, returned yesterday from Laguna, where they opened their cottage for the holiday season.

Woman's Club

Members of the Santa Ana Woman's club, meeting yesterday afternoon with Mrs. C. H. Stanley, 1135 West First street, received a most cordial welcome, followed by one of the most interesting programs of the year.

The Stanley home was bright with decorations of the Christmas flower, the poinsettia, and about twenty members were present to enjoy the afternoon which opened with an account of the reciprocity meeting held a few weeks ago in Whittier. This account was given by Mrs. R. R. Tiffany, who as one of the club's delegates, attended the session.

Mrs. Tiffany spoke particularly of an interesting lecture on "Chemistry" by Professor Ostrum and stated that so many valuable ideas were gleaned from it, she felt that her notes would be of interest to other members. There were found of decided interest and value to housekeepers as Prof. Ostrum's talk was on household chemistry, particularly.

Mrs. Martha Marks, a second delegate, also agreed with Mrs. Tiffany in her estimate of the talk, and spoke further words of praise for the musical program at the reciprocity meeting. Mrs. Marks gave a short talk on parliamentary rulings followed by a discussion of the plan to celebrate the club birthday at the February meeting.

This is an annual affair and a committee, with Mrs. C. H. Diers as chairman, was appointed to arrange for the banquet which will be a feature of the celebration.

The presence of Mrs. Anna Gale after an absence of several months, during which she was a guest of her son in Hawaii, was the signal for a heartfelt welcome extended by the club members. Mrs. Gale gave a vivid description of her Hawaiian experiences, dwelling particularly on the conditions, ways and customs of the islanders and especially with reference to the Japanese question. Mrs. Gale was most courteous in answering the stream of questions which flowed after her splendid little impromptu talk.

Mrs. Marian Brett then gave an excellent review of "Main Street" by Sinclair Lewis, pointing out its value as a lesson, in its analysis of life in a small town. Her hearers were much impressed with her splendid handling of a book difficult to review.

At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. Stanley, assisted by Dr. Evaline Peo, served delicious refreshments to the club members.

Daughters of Veterans

With fully half of the members present Tuesday afternoon, Sarah A. Rounds Tent No. 10, Daughters of Veterans, closed a successful year. Mrs. Clara B. Corry was initiated making a total of one hundred and twenty members.

Much credit is due the president, Mrs. Esther P. Gardner, for the flourishing condition of the tent. By her gracious and efficient leadership she has endeared herself to every member.

In the annual report of the officers the president stated that sixty-six new members were received during the past year and that in addition to the regular meetings fourteen social meetings had been held.

The patriotic instructor gave a report showing a full year as did also the other officers' reports.

Since the last meeting, twenty-six bouquets have been sent to the sick and shut-ins, fifty dollars expended for relief work and forty-five for patriotic work. This includes all gifts given aside from the help given to old soldiers and their families.

An invitation was accepted from the Sons of Veterans to co-operate with them in observing "Defenders' Day," February 12. Mrs. Harriet Leipsic, newly elected patriotic instructor, was appointed to prepare a suitable program.

Mrs. Leona Talbot, department guide, announced that she and her committee are planning a benefit entertainment for the "Daughters Memorial Home" to be built at Sawtelle. This entertainment will probably be given about the middle of February.

On Monday evening, January 9, the Sons and Daughters will hold a joint installation service to which the public is cordially invited. The relief committee have some needy families they want to help and ask all members to meet at the home of Mrs. Esther P. Gardner, 212 Orange avenue, Friday, January 6 at 10 o'clock to make comforts and sew. Please bring darning needle and thimble. Each one is asked to bring individual lunch, and coffee will be served.

Wedding of Young Couple Solemnized New Year's Eve

Of keen interest to their many warm friends in this community, was the wedding of Miss Virna Blackmore of Garden Grove and Clarence W. Trotter of this city, which took place New Year's eve in Los Angeles.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blackmore of East Fourth street, and has been employed in the offices of the Liggett-Bemis company at Garden Grove where she has resided with an aunt.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Trotter of the Ritchey road, and is a prosperous young rancher of the community. During the war, he enlisted in the navy and served two years, during which time he was stationed for many months at Vladivostok and also saw much duty in the Philippines and Japan.

After their return from a honeymoon trip, Mr. and Mrs. Trotter will reside in this vicinity where they will be welcomed by a large circle of friends.

Self-Explanatory Account Of Merry Evening

I. C. E. of the Christian Church thought something should be done To show respect to the final day of 1921.

So in the basement of the church These gathered not a few,
To bid farewell to the dying year,
And welcome '22.

They surely were a jolly bunch—
I. C. E. can't be beat—
They all enjoyed some lively games
Till it was time to eat.

There in a little mountain stream
Where most folk fish for trout,
The boys threw in a hook and line
And drew sandwiches out.

And then by numbers partners
Were found,
As plans had thus been made,
From this same little mountain stream
Was furnished lemonade!

After a short song service
The whistles loudly blew,
The worn old year marched slowly out
And in danced '22.

L. A. FOLK HOME AFTER ENCOUNTERING PERILS

Two Los Angeles couples, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Bacon and Mr. and Mrs.
M. F. McClanahan, had reached their homes today after passing a day and night, flood-bound in Santiago canyon.

Attempting to drive down the canyon, after entering it at Modjeska's home, their car was stalled at the fourth crossing of Santiago creek, above the county park. Subsisting on the remnants of a picnic lunch and disputing possession of a cave with a bob-cat during the night, the party spent an uncomfortable twenty-four hours until passersby discovered their plight next day and summoned aid.

The four were brought across the creek on a tree that was felled across the swollen stream. Their car is still in the creek.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, Jan. 4.—The family of W. E. Smith left Monday forenoon for their new home in Burbank the household goods and livestock being taken by John Gupitil in his truck and two trailers.

Miss Elizabeth Smith accompanied the family to Burbank and later returned to Pomona college. Her brother, Dudley, remained till evening taking the 6 o'clock stage from Anaheim for Pomona.

The Smiths have been active in church, Sunday school and Christian endeavor work here, for nearly 12 years with the exception of a year or more spent in Long Beach, and their going makes a vacancy that will be impossible to fill, it is said. They will be greatly missed in every department of church work. At the close of Sunday school, Sunday morning, Mrs. J. F. Patterson, the Sunday school secretary in a few well chosen words expressed the great regret which all felt at their leaving and asked the school to rise as an expression of their appreciation of their services which they gladly did.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have each taught a Sunday school class and he has been the intermediate C. E. Superintendent and church chorister.

The loss of their home and all its contents by fire, a few months ago, was the determining factor of their leaving as Mr. Smith's business is in Hollywood, but they are retaining their ranch property near Alamitos.

The good wishes of hosts of friends follow them to their new home where a house has been built.

Clyde Bryan, of Vallejo, Solano county, spent the week at the Smith home and accompanied them to Burbank.

New Year's Surprise

Some of the young people of the Intermediate C. E. planned a New Year's eve surprise in honor of the Smith young folks. It was later decided to hold the gathering at the Bryan home. Charles Stone, with his team and hayrack brought a large load of young folks to that place, where followed an evening of frolic and fun consisting of both indoor and outdoor games. Apples, candy and cookies were passed for refreshments and the company left for their homes shortly before the arrival of the new year.

The J. R. Morgan home was the scene of a gay gathering on New Year's eve. R. J. Morgan and family of Wintersburg, Mr. and Mrs. E.
A. Hare, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Price,
Mr. and Mrs. Harold Price, of Westminster, watched the old year out and the new year in.

Cards were the feature of the evening ending with an oyster supper at midnight. Every one reported an enjoyable evening.

CORCORAN—The Corcoran Co.,

its gin on Monday, January 2, and began the work of ginning the 1921 crop.

OAKDALE—Experiments on an extensive scale are to be made at once which will probably demonstrate that thousands of acres of low priced land south of Oakdale can be converted into valuable vineyards and orchards.

MODESTO—That Modesto is destined to be a great poultry center is foretold in the starting here of what is to be the largest poultry ranch in the state if not in the entire country. The new project which is well under way will, inside of 18 months have a plant of 50,000 laying hens and employing besides the foreman, six men steadily the year around.
John C. Cuno, who for several years was president of the Tuolumne Lumber company and who, since the lumber concern was sold to the Ward company has been with the Shoe-

WOODLAND—Lemons that resemble oranges in color and size are grown in the W. E. Tadlock orchard, near Madison, with success. Fifty-four of the big-sized lemons grew on one twig that has been brought here for show purposes. Tadlock secured the baby tree from Luther Burbank's experimental gardens at Santa Rosa.
At the prevailing prices, Tadlock netted a small fortune off his small grove.

MADERA—More than 250 vine-yardists braved the rain and mud to attend vine pruning demonstrations given recently by F. T. Bioletti, of the state university. Among other notable points, on which instruction was given was proper trellising. A trellis was erected at the E. Ficht-meier place. A characteristic feature of this demonstration trellis was the placing of the grape stakes 15 inches from the vines, to make pruning easier. The vines were trained on 4 1/2 inch pickets connected with the wire.

COACHELLA—Grapefruit growers of the Oasis district do not have time to truck their fruit to the railroad station. It is all being sold on the trees, at 5 1/2 cents per pound, the buyers coming to pick and truck the fruit home. The quality of the grapefruit, as usual, is excellent.

TOM MIX COMES TO THE YOST TONIGHT

"The Rough Diamond," title of the latest Fox production starring Tom Mix, which is due at the Yost Theater tonight, will be full of surprise for the local admirers of this vigorous star—and that means practically every photoplay-goer in town. Without revealing in detail the elements of new and surprising action and atmosphere that "The Rough Diamond" contains, it may be said that Mix practically steps out of his old character entirely and reveals a new power and versatility as an actor—becomes a reckless and romantic adventurer amid tense scenes and dynamic action in a South American republic.

With a colorful and romantic story of this type, and divorced from the usual scenes and Western action that he has made famous, Mix has a greater opportunity than ever to show his capabilities as an actor — and he does it in a manner that establishes him more strongly in fame and favor than ever before. With bold, broad strokes as well as the very finest shading of character delineation, Mix plays upon every emotion, mixing delightfully light moments of comedy with heavy, tense and thrilling dramatic action.

Supporting him is the usual sterling cast of players including Eva

THRILLING FILM AT WEST END

Filled with stirring action, Dorothy Dalton's latest Paramount picture, "Behind Masks," which will be shown for the last times at the returning Monday evening at their home at Anaheim.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Worthing are happy over the arrival of a new grandson, Harlan Dale Hall, son of their daughter and son-in-law, Prof.
and Mrs. Boydon Hall, of Huntington Beach. The date of arrival was December 26.

Walter Dilley and family, of Garden Grove, were Sunday evening guests at the home of his parents,
Mr. and Mrs. John Dilley.

West End tonight, is one of the strongest photoplays in which she has been seen thus far this season.
This is an entirely different type of picture from most of Miss Dalton's recent vehicles and is featured with dramatic incidents.

Miss Dalton has the role of Jeanne Mesurier, a wealthy heiress who seeks someone who will love her for herself alone, and meets with the opposition of her guardian an unscrupulous adventurer. The plot takes a dramatic turn when Jeanne suddenly finds herself involved in the efforts of two persons to conceal the body of a supposedly murdered man.
Captured and taken to a smugglers' cave she throws herself into the sea to escape.

Fredrik Vogeding, a noted Dutch actor who has done thirty pictures with the best known film companies of Europe and appeared in vaudeville in an act called "Blindfolded" with his wife, Florence Roberts, is leading man.

An excellent supporting company includes William P. Carleton, Julia Swayne Gordon, Kempton Greene, Lewis Broughton, Gladys Valerie and Alexander Kaufman.

VIOLA DANA IS "BIG HIT" AT THE PRINCESS

Viola Dana's newest picture, "The Match Breaker," now at the Princess, includes among its many novelties, a bathing style show, staged within the exclusive confines of Coronado Beach by the diminutive Viola herself.

Miss Dana exhibits several brands of personal liberty in "The Match Breaker," a Dallas M. Fitzgerald production for Metro. As a breaker of matches—matrimonial, not lucifer—she has many opportunities for doing the bizarre and audacious, and hasn't missed one.

The supporting cast includes Jack Perrin, Edward Jobson, Julia Calhoun, Wedgwood Nowell, Kate Ton-eray, Lenore Lynard, Fred Kelsey and Arthur Millette.

"Beyond" Remarkable Picture

Ethel Clayton's latest Paramount starring vehicle, "Beyond," which will be shown at the Temple theater next Friday is said to be one of the most remarkable photoplays in which this beautiful and accomplished star has yet appeared. The theme is appealing, the settings beautiful, the direction artistic and the support, headed by Charles Meredith, beyond criticism.

The photoplay has an especial appeal to the woman because of rich gowns worn by the star in the production.

RUSH REGISTRATION OF FOLK IN COUNTY

Showing that the work of registering Orange county voters for the 1922 elections is going forward actively throughout the county, the first complete book of fifty registrations was turned in today by an outside deputy at the office of County Clerk J. M. Backs. H. W. Smith, deputy at Tustin, made the report.

Preparations are being made this year to register 35,000 voters in the county, which would represent a gain of approximately 10,000 over the previous registration total.

Registration books will close July 29 for the primary election of August 29, and October 7 for the general election November 7. In order to vote at either of these elections or subsequent elections before 1924, all voters must be registered since January 1 of this year, whether previously registered.

SISTER IN EAST SEEKS INFORMATION BEARING ON HER LOST BROTHER

Postmaster General Hays may be ready to quit the service and become the monarch of the motion picture industry in the United States, but if he does, his plan to humanize the postal service will bear fruit in at least one instance.

This was revealed here today when Postmaster C. D. Overshiner released for publication a letter from Mrs. S. A. Williams, of Collingdale, Pa., who wrote to him asking his aid in locating her only brother, H. Hillbeck.

Hillbeck, the letter said, disappeared in June, 1917, when he left for the purpose of coming to Santa Ana to start a poultry farm. He may have gone to Bell station, the letter added.

CHURCH LAYS PLANS TO ELIMINATE DEBT

Determination to put on a financial campaign to rid the church of a debt of $7500 was expressed at the annual parish meeting of the Church of the Messiah, Episcopal, last evening.

Recently the church purchased a lot adjoining the church on the south. The indebtedness of the church was made what it now is by this purchase a move toward a bigger building. At the meeting last night it was announced that a subscription of $1,000 had been promised provided $4,000 or more was raised in addition to that.

No date for the financial campaign has been decided upon.

The vestrymen elected last evening are Charles G. Twist, F. H. Finney, Guy J. Gilbert, W. A. Griffith, M. R. Wellington, G. R. Parker, J. C. Hayden, V. A. Bishop, who with the rector, the Rev. W. L. H. Benton, comprise the church board. The vestry will organize at a meeting next Friday evening.

Three delegates of the parish to the annual convention of the diocese to be held in Los Angeles January 25 were chosen last night, being C. G. Teist, S. J. Cornell and Lyman Tremaine. The president of the Ladies' guild of the church to be elected today and the president of the church auxiliary to be elected next Friday afternoon will also be delegates.

Bishop J. H. Johnson of Los Angeles is to be present at the services in the church Sunday morning, January 29, and will have charge of the confirmation of a class of ten.

HOOVER'S ASSOCIATE VISITS FAMILY HERE

W. L. Donald, noted engineer in South African gold mining enterprises, and Mrs. Donald, former resident of Santa Ana, are renewing old acquaintances here while visiting at the home of Mrs. Donald's niece, Mrs. Charles A. Riggs, 901 Spurgeon street.

Honold, who was associated with Herbert Hoover in mining work in Johannesburg, British South Africa, and who was later a member of Hoover's Belgian relief commission, in charge of offices in New York and London, was today in Redlands, visiting friends.

For eighteen years Honold was expert engineer for a British mining syndicate in Africa, and it was during that time that he made the acquaintance of Hoover. The two became intimate friends. When at the outbreak of the World War in 1914, Hoover organized the commission for the relief of Belgium, he chose among others of his engineer acquaintances, Honold.

Early in his career Honold was engaged in engineering work at Santa Andreas in this state.

Mrs. Honold was formerly Miss Carrie Burton, and is remembered by many of the older residents of the city who resided here twenty years ago when she made her home in Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. Honold returned to New York from South Africa about a year ago. They reached the Riggs home just before Christmas. They will remain until next week.

REPORTS OF CHURCH REFLECT BIG STRIDE

At the quarterly conference of the Methodist church, held here last night, interesting reports were received and important subjects were discussed by Dr. Henry I. Rasmus, superintendent of the San Diego district.

At last night's meeting it was developed, among other things, that the church has shown a healthy increase in membership, that the Sunday schools are making excellent progress, and that the Pacific branch of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society has entertained 230 delegates, including church workers from every section of the United States.

In the Sunday school report, read last night, it was shown that the school gave $680 to the starving children of the world and a special gift of $125 to the children of the Near East. The church also gave $1300 to the Church of All Nations in Los Angeles. It was announced that the Christmas giving exceeded $2000. The Sunday school has a troop of 32 Boy Scouts, a Camp Fire girls' squad of eighteen, a glee club of fourteen, and a Y. M. C. A. club of ten.

In connection with the Centenary fund, Dr. Rasmus reported that $2,480 had been contributed to this fund for the last quarter, and added that the contributions of the Santa Ana church had been largely responsible for the San Diego district's superiority over all other districts in Southern California last year. "This district," said Dr. Rasmus, "had an increase of more than $12,000 over the Los Angeles district, more than $10,000 over the Pasadena district, and $5,000 more than the Long Beach district."

APPROVES BONDS PROPOSED FOR SCHOOLS

The proposed school bond issue of $250,000 for Santa Ana today had the unanimous endorsement of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce. Approval was given by the board at its regular meeting this morning.

The directors passed resolutions supporting efforts to secure a tariff on sugar.

Board members present indulged in the pleasure this morning of sampling a fruit cake made by a million dollar company, the Hazen J. Titus Fruit Cakes company, of Seattle, Wash. A five-pound cake arrived at the Chamber of Commerce rooms while the directors were in session. According to information accompanying the cake, the company has been organized only six months and is now seeking a location for a model factory.

Query was made as to the advantages Santa Ana offers for such an enterprise and Secretary Metzgar will advise the company of the ideal situation here for manufacturing industries.

New members were voted in as follows:

FIX DATE FOR HEARING CASE INVOLVING LIQUOR

Preliminary hearing of Robert E. Curran, alias James Dunn, has been set today for January 18 at 2 p. m. by Justice J. B. Cox, before whom Curran was arraigned yesterday on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Curran was held in the county jail under $500 bail.

Curran gave the name of Dunn when arrested on West Fifth street Monday evening, after a collision with a car driven by L. H. Eckle, of Santa Ana, who claimed to have picked up a bottle of liquor, which, he said, Curran threw away and to have pursued Curran across a field.

BUSINESS SHOWS GENEROSITY OF FOLK IN S. A.

Santa Ana folks are more generous or more prosperous than those residing in other sections of the country.

At least, that is the deduction which James T. Carter, local agent for the American Express company, makes, after an inspection of the figures kept during 1921.

They show that while 3,285 shipments were sent out from the local office, only 2,764 were received. This same ratio existed in the previous year, according to Carter, indicating that it was not a mere chance occurrence.

The number of shipments handled by the five employees of the local office in 1921 was nearly the same as that of 1920, expectations of officials to the contrary notwithstanding. The year's receipts, Carter said, closely rivalled those of the post office, which were around $80,000.

A "shipment" in express company parlance may contain one package or a hundred, it was explained.

TO REORGANIZE STOCKMEN PLAN BIG MEETING IN L. A.

As a result of a meeting of the stockholders of the Westminster Oil company, held in Los Angeles, it was announced today that ambitious plans are in the making for complete reorganization of the company. A proposal to increase the capital stock of the company from $300,000 to $950,000 was voted down, upon advice of counsel, and an entirely new program was outlined.

This new program, which calls for the election of nine directors, will be worked out in detail at a meeting to be held in Pomona next Saturday afternoon. At this meeting it is proposed to elect A. W. Williamson, of Hollywood, president, and arrange for another stockholders' meeting, at which time a tentative proposition to increase the company's capital stock from $300,000 to $500,000 will be acted upon.

Among the proposed new directors are Robert Rainier, of the Ambassador Hotel company, Los Angeles; Edwin Little, Hollywood; J. C. Booth, Hollywood; E. E. Lyons, Los Angeles, and others.

In announcing the new plans of the company, which owns wells in Orange county, C. C. Wagner of Placentia, said today that new territory to be developed by the company embraces 880 acres, 480 acres of which is located in Ventura county.

Wagner declared that the prospects of the company were exceptionally good and said drilling operations in new territory will be under way within thirty days after final action is taken.

The breeding of pure bred livestock in Southern California is assuming proportions of such magnitude and general importance that those engaged in this work have found it advisable to effect an organization embracing those interested in promoting the various breeds of cattle, hogs, horses and sheep.

The stockmen have organized under the name of the Southern California Pure Bred Livestock association, with H. Michel of the Santa Monica Dairy company of Venice, president; George W. Thomas, dairyman and breeder of Jersey cattle of Arlington, vice president, and W. W. Van Pelt, secretary of the Southern California fair at Riverside, secretary-treasurer.

The board of directors is composed of the following: horses, Percherons, F. L. Hall, Perris; Clydesdales, John Troup, Santa Barbara; cattle, Holsteins, R. N. Clapp, Nuevo; Jerseys, George W. Thomas, Arlington; Guernseys, Walter P. Dupee, Riverside; Ayrshires, Mark Butterfield, Riverside; dairy shorthorns, F. A. Langdon, Perris; beef shorthorns, Frank C. Collier, Wildomar; Herefords, D. H. Ogden, Alpine; Aberdeen-Angus, F. F. Peabody, Santa Barbara; swine, Duroc-Jerseys, J. C. Craig, Owensmouth; Berkshires, A. E. Wilson, Guasti; Hampshire, A. E. Harvey, Redlands; Poland-China, Charles MacDonald, Santa Ana; sheep, J. J. Prendergast, Redlands.

At a recent meeting of the directors held in Los Angeles it was decided to hold a general meeting of stockmen in Los Angeles on Saturday, January 14, at noon, at which time a program of work for the coming year will be presented and the machinery for carrying on this work discussed and arranged for.

The introduction, development and protection of pure bred stock is a problem of paramount importance in Southern California. There is a limitless field open to this development; climate, soil and every agricultural condition lends itself to the encouragement of this industry. The promoters of this organization have in mind a definite system of work to remove as far as possible some of the many bumps in this road to place the purebred animal on every farm and ranch and to encourage better breeding conditions generally.

TELLS OF GREAT BAND LEADER'S MAGNETISM

Clarence A. Gustin, president of the Santa Ana Musical association, which is lending its moral support to the concert that John Philip Sousa and his band will give at the high school auditorium here tomorrow evening at 8:30 o'clock, today released for publication two stories, one concerning the wonderful personal magnetism of the world-famous band leader, and the other detailing the "march king's" never-ending capacity for work.

Inspector Thurlow Parker, who is in charge of one of the offices of the United States customs service in Greater New York, tells as follows an experience he had with Sousa, showing the latter's almost uncanny ability as a bandmaster:

Needed No Music
"Sousa, in the days I was under him in the Marine band, was a most magnetic man. He could exercise what might be termed a hypnotic influence over the men of the band. I distinctly recall one occasion when the band was to play a selection from 'Faust.' By mistake, the librarian did not give me my second cornet part.

"I did not discover the oversight until Sousa had raised his baton to commence. The piece was carried through to the part when I was supposed to join in, and with a graceful sweep, Sousa turned toward me. I was panic-stricken, but as I looked toward him in despair, my eye caught him. I was like one hypnotized, and to my astonishment, I found myself playing the part with perfect ease without the notes. I honestly believe I was hypnotized by the great leader that day."

Applause Eases Fatigue
The story as to Sousa's indefatigability follows:

"After twenty-nine years of prodigious travel throughout America, five tours throughout Europe and one tour around the globe, lasting more than a year, directing his wonderful organization in concert, it might seem that Lieutenant-Commander John Philip Sousa would be weary of concert-giving and of travel of every sort.

"In so far as the concert-giving is concerned, Sousa does not lag or languish in the least. On the contrary, the Sousa concerts—which are distinctive the world over, a type apart from all others—are things of his own creation ever of pride to himself. He delights in them in so long as the people are delighted in them and clamor for them. It is not for money alone that Sousa endures the fatigue and deprivations of travel, he finds pleasure and much remuneration in the delights he knows he is bestowing as audiences break into ringing applause everywhere, and demand more. He has often said that the plaudits of an enthusiastic audience are, to him, quite as much a source of palatable reward as the dollars in the box office—albeit the dollars will pay excessive expenses where the plaudits will pay nothing. Sousa loves his work, else he would not endure it."

EXPECT TO HAVE PUMPING PLANT IN OPERATION BY JULY 1

Newport Heights Property Owners Endorse Proposal for Extending Works

ESTIMATE COST $250,000

Bond Issue of $160,000 Already Voted; Other Issue to Be Submitted

The Newport Heights Irrigation district will have a complete modern water plant by the first of July, next, it was expected today, following an enthusiastic meeting of property owners held yesterday afternoon at the school house at Costa Mesa to consider the proposition of carrying out contemplated plans for a new system.

Unanimous approval was given plans to proceed with the construction work at once and the voting of additional bonds to carry out the project and make the system adequate for the needs of the district. At the meeting of the board of directors to be held two weeks from yesterday the secretary will be authorized to advertise for bids for installation of the system under plans drawn by Paul E. Kressley, city engineer of Newport Beach. The district has voted and sold bonds to the amount of $160,000. Estimates made some months ago on the cost of the new plant, as proposed, indicated a probable cost of $250,000.

When bids are submitted by contractors it will be definitely known what amount of money above the $160,000 will be necessary to complete the project and voters in the district will be asked to approve an additional bond issue for the amount needed.

Lew H. Wallace, president of the First National bank of Newport Beach, and a property owner in the district, stated today that the property owners present at the meeting were unanimous in their decision to proceed with the improvement without delay. He expressed the belief that the new plant would be in operation by July 1, if unforeseen circumstances did not delay the work. Reinforced concrete pipe reservoirs and additional pumping equipment are provided for in the plans.

Water Levels Show Huge Gains Since Rains and Farmers Exude Happiness

Farmers dependant upon pump water for irrigation have been greatly relieved by the rain storm of the past two and a half weeks, according to reports coming from various sections of the county where pumping is resorted to extensively.

Cessation of pumping has increased the water levels in wells and brought relief for the present, at least, to a situation that was becoming serious. Water levels in wells have been receding rapidly for the past five years and before the storm some farmers were having difficulty in getting water needed.

One farmer reported that the supply from a well he was pumping, at this time principally for domestic purposes, had increased 50 per cent since the rains started. Similar increase is reported in other wells.

The water strata will not reflect the result of the storm for a long time, so far as an increase from percolation is concerned.

OWNERS OF TRACTORS SECURE REPAIR RATE OF ONE DOLLAR HOUR

Tractor and automobile repair work at $1 an hour for time of mechanics is available to Orange county farm bureau members at different points in the county, according to announcement from the farm bureau today.

The tractor committee of the bureau, consisting of W. Dean Johnston chairman, C. E. Utt and R. D. Flaherty, has been active since its appointment in efforts to secure reductions in tractor and automobile repairs and fuels.

The committee reports definite success in garage price reductions and anticipates success in securing lower prices for fuels, according to its report to the bureau.

Concessions have been made by one garage at Orange, one at Olinda, one at Westminster and one in Santa Ana, the committee reports.

Reduced prices on repair work will effect a saving to tractor and automobile owners of approximately $300,000 per year, the committee estimates.

The committee members state that the new price basis of $1 an hour will lead to the consolidation of many of the garages over the county, with the larger concerns operating outside of the high rent zones.

It is declared that one of the large oil companies has announced to the committee that it expects to be able to make a price reduction to members of the bureau and effective in a very short time.

TRACTOR SCHOOL ENROLLMENTS REACH 30

Classes In Practical Demonstration to Open Here January Thirtieth

Orange county ranchers are evincing a lively interest in the tractor demonstrations, scheduled to be held under the auspices of the University of California at the Santa Ana high school from January 30 to February 4, according to Orange county farm bureau officers here today.

The enrollments have been limited to sixty, it was announced, and fully 50 per cent of this number have already sent in advance reservations. Farm bureau heads pointed out that this course of training will be invaluable to all those interested in tractor problems. A nominal fee of $2 is charged for incidental supplies.

One of the practical features of the demonstrations will be found in the tests made upon tractors supplied by those who attend the classes. These tractors, having seen active service in Orange county, will be tested and demonstrated at length by the experts who will have charge of the work here. Every rancher attending the school has been requested to bring his own tractor.

Those in charge of the courses will be equipped for general lecture and demonstrative work, but all repairs will be done upon the tractors owned and furnished by local ranchers. The work will cover a broad field and will be general in nature. No one make of tractor will be featured to the exclusion of other makes.

The tractor school is fostered by the Orange County Extension service and the Orange County farm bureau. Reservations may be made at 508 North Main street.

CONTRACTOR TO START OPERATIONS TOMORROW

E. W. Oglesby, who has the contract for sewer, curbing and paving Flower street south from Fourth street to Fairview avenue, started work on sewer installation today. The first work will be between Fourth and First streets. It is probable that work will be in progress on various sections of Flower street for the next six months.

Picking and Shipping of Navel Oranges are Resumed Following Rain

Picking and shipping of navel oranges in Orange county were being resumed today, following a suspension of operations because of the recent heavy rains. It is expected that shipping will resume normal proportions for this period of the season by the end of this week.

Warm sunshine of the past two days has had the effect of drying out the oranges, the skins of which were more or less soaked with water. The cold weather of the past few nights also has been beneficial. Oranges with their skins full of water are easily damaged in handling. Bright sun will shine for the next day or two and will place the fruit in fine condition it is said. Prices being received for navel are very satisfactory, according to D. Eymann Huff, manager of the Hewes ranch.

Valencia oranges are coloring now, due to climatic conditions. The fruit is growing very fast, but the color does not necessarily mean that the oranges are ripening earlier than usual. Cold weather has been beneficial in checking excessive flow of sap, to water conditions. Harvesting of valencias will not start before the middle of April.

FARM TAX COMMITTEE WILL MEET JANUARY 6 TO DISCUSS MEASURES

January 6 today was fixed as the date for the first meeting of the taxation committee recently appointed by the Orange County farm bureau to determine whether the present methods of assessing property in Orange county are fair to agriculture.

The committee, which is headed by J. F. Woodworth, has signified its willingness to assist County Assessor James Sleeper in any possible way when assessed valuations come up for consideration in this county. Other committee members are James A. Smiley and E. E. Campbell.

Farm bureau executives believe that this is one of the most important committees appointed in recent months and virtually every rancher in Orange county is vitally interested in its activities. At the meeting of the committee scheduled for January 6 reports are expected which will prove invaluable to the ranchers and to the bureau.

DRIVE FOR MEMBERS NEAR COVETED GOAL

With active campaigns outlined for January and February, and with Anaheim and West Orange making a concerted drive during the week of January 9-15, R. D. Flaherty, secretary-manager of the Orange County farm bureau, today declared he was sanguine of securing a farm bureau membership of fully 2500 by March 1.

The Anaheim-West Orange campaign will be vigorously pushed, Flaherty said, and will follow in a general way a similar campaign prosecuted throughout the county during the first part of last December. It was pointed out by farm bureau officers that there are fully 900 farmers living in these two centers, and the bureau will make a determined effort to bring every available rancher into the fold. Officers believed at least 500 new members will be added as a result of the campaign in this section.

Secretary Flaherty announced today that he will devote virtually his entire time to the membership campaign for the next few weeks, and as soon as the Anaheim-West Orange drive is finished he will center his efforts upon the Westminster, Greenville, Talbert and Huntington Beach territory.

The last-named section, which remains practically unorganized, is rich in possibilities, the officers asserted, and will aid very materially in farm bureau promotion work when the district has been properly organized.

It is the plan to conduct a "clean-up" membership campaign during the present month, with the aim of making this county one of the best organized units in the state farm bureau movement.

STATE FARM BUREAU HEAD WILL BE HERE AFTERNOON OF JAN. 6

Matters of vital importance to those interested in the success of the Orange county farm bureau will come up for discussion when State President W. H. Walker confers with the bureau's executive committee here next Friday afternoon. Directors of the bureau also will attend the conference.

At this time methods of financing and handling the state public utilities department and other farm bureau problems will be discussed in detail. Inasmuch as this will be the first opportunity the directors and the executive committee have had to get together in a conference of this kind for several months, it was believed that many worthwhile ideas will be developed at Friday's meeting.

Local farm bureau officials have sent out invitations urging every farm bureau director to be on hand to meet the state president, and a full attendance is expected.

SECURE CAPABLE SPEAKERS FOR INSTITUTE

Final Details of Program to Govern Walnut Men's Meeting Complete

Walnut growers here today were interested in the announcement by the Orange county farm bureau that final details have been virtually completed for the walnut growers' institute, which is scheduled to meet in the high school auditorium here January 13.

Prominent speakers, secured to address the gathering, have been requested to prepare in advance the speeches they will make on this occasion, in order that the limited time may be allotted in the best possible order. Chief among these will be W. S. Rosecrans of the Los Angeles county farm bureau, and others from out of town.

It is expected that the institute, which will be opened at 10 a. m., will serve as the magnet to draw to Santa Ana walnut growers from nearly every section of the county.

Questions of vital importance to the growers will be discussed by leading experts. Walnuts grown in Manchuria, France, Italy and other foreign countries will be among the exhibits. It has been decided to make a stenographic report of the discussions and the minutes of the meeting will be mailed to all those who attend the institute. It was believed these will be invaluable for future reference.

Many ranchers from other counties will attend, it was said today, and the entertainment committee has arranged to take care of fully 1000. A noon luncheon will be served and hot coffee will be dispensed by the local workers. Questions that are to come up for discussion will include pruning, spraying, dehydration and the gathering and curing of the crop. Counties represented will be Orange, Los Angeles, Ventura, Santa Barbara and Riverside.

HOLD LAST RITES FOR CIVIL WAR VETERAN

Funeral services were held yesterday at 10 a. m., at the Mills and Winbiger Mission Funeral home for Myron J. Woodward, whose death occurred at his home in Long Beach December 30.

The services were conducted by the Rev. J. A. Stevenson. Mrs. Cecil Willis sang two beautiful hymns, accompanied by Miss Armstrong. While Mr. Woodward was not a member of Sedgwick Post, G. A. R., he was a frequent attendant at the post meetings, as a veteran of the Civil war, and comrades from the Past bore his body to the grave. These were C. H. Willoughby, W. E. Newman, George Huntington, O. H. Marryat and W. J. Lieser.

Mr. Woodward was survived by his wife, Mrs. Mac Woodward, three daughters by a former marriage, Mrs. H. F. Hayward and Mrs. Ella Woodward of 806 Cypress street, Santa Ana, and Miss Nada Woodward, formerly of Santa Ana but now of Tulsa, Okla. Mrs. J. E. Tanner of this city was a sister of the deceased.

GRAIN ELEVATOR LOCATION HERE WILL RECEIVE SUPPORT AT BERKELEY

State Farm Bureau Federation Meeting to Discuss Handling of Product

NEWPORT HARBOR BUSY

Selection of Site Will Depend Upon Attitude of Bureau Committee

The proposal that a terminal grain elevator be built, either at San Pedro or at Newport harbor, is gaining impetus.

This was the word that went forth from the office of the Orange county farm bureau here today, when Secretary-Manager R. D. Flaherty announced that E. E. Campbell, of Orange, a director on the board of the California farm bureau federation and a member of the executive committee, had received notice that the latter body would meet at Berkeley January 12 and 13, when one of the principal subjects to come up will be that of bulk handling of grain.

The executive committee of the state federation will take up various matters that were delegated to it last November when the federation held its annual meeting at Berkeley. Program For Year.

The complete state program of farm bureau work during the present year will be mapped at the meeting January 12 and 13. Flaherty stated, and looming large in the program will be projects having to do with the bulk handling of grain.

A meeting that is expected to be productive of big results, so far as the building of a terminal elevator in Southern California is concerned, will be held at San Juan Capistrano February 16.

This meeting, which is expected to be attended by grain growers from all over Orange county, will be given reports of a meeting which is to be held at the Los Angeles county farm bureau office, Los Angeles, January 28 and which is to be attended by representatives of Region No. 1 of the California farm bureau federation.

The Great Impersonation

CHAPTER IV
Mr. Mangan, on their way into the grill room, loitered for a few minutes in the small reception room, chatting with some acquaintances, whilst his host, having spoken to the maitre d'hotel and ordered a cocktail from a passing waiter, stood with his hands behind his back, watching the inflow of men and women with all that interest which one might be supposed to feel in one's fellows after a prolonged absence. He had moved a little on one side to allow a party of young people to make their way through the crowded chamber, when he was conscious of a woman standing alone on the topmost of the three thickly carpeted stairs. Their eyes met, and hers, which had been wandering around the room as though in search of some acquaintance, seemed instantly and fervently held. To the few loungers about the room, ignorant of any special significance in that studied contemplation of the man on the part of the woman, their two personalities presented an agreeable, almost fascinating study. Dominey was six feet two in height and had to its fullest extent the natural distinction of his class, together with the half military bearing which seemed to have been so marvellously restored to him. His complexion was no more than becomingly tanned; his slight moustache, trimmed very close to the upper lip, was of the same ruddy brown shade as his sleekly brushed hair. The woman, who had commenced now to move slowly towards him, saw that her cheeks, at that moment, at any rate, were almost unattractively pale, was of the same coloring. Her red-gold hair gleamed beneath her black hat. She was tall, a Grecian type of figure, large without being coarse, majestic though still young. She carried a little dog under one arm and a plain black silk bag, on which was a corner in platinum and diamonds, in the other hand. The majordomo who presided over the room, watching her approach, bowed with more than his usual urbanity. Her eyes, however, were still fixed upon the person who had engaged so large a share of her attention. She came toward him, her lips a little parted.

"Leopold!" she faltered. "The Holy Saints, why did you not let me know!"

Dominey bowed very slightly. His words seemed to have a cut and dried flavor.

"I am so sorry," he replied, "but I fear that you have made a mistake. My name is not Leopold."

She stood quite still, looking at him with the air of not having heard a word of his polite disclaimer.

"I can only repeat, madam,," he said, "that to my very great regret I have not the honor of your acquaintance."

She was puzzled, but absolutely unconvinced.

"You mean to deny that you are Leopold von Ragastein?" she asked incredulously. "You do not know me?"

"Madam," he answered, "it is not my great pleasure. My name is Dominey—Everard Dominey."

She seemed for a moment to be struggling with some embarrassment which approached emotion. Then she laid her fingers upon his sleeve and drew him to a more retired corner of the little apartment.

"Leopold," she whispered, "nothing can make it wrong or indiscreet for you to visit me. My address is 17, Belgrave Square. I desire to see you tonight at seven o'clock."

"But, my dear lady," Dominey began. Her eyes suddenly glowed with a new light.

"I will not be trifled with," she insisted. "If you wish to succeed in whatever scheme you have on hand, you must not make an enemy of me. I shall expect you at seven o'clock."

She passed away from him into the restaurant. Mr. Mangan, now freed from his friends, rejoined his host, and the two men took their places at the side table to which they were ushered with many signs of attention.

"Wasn't that the Princess Eldstrom with whom you were talking?" the solicitor asked curiously.

"A lady addressed me by mistake," Dominey explained. "She mistook me, curiously enough, for a man who used to be called my double at Oxford, Sigismund Devinter he was then, although I think he came into a title later on."

"The Princess is quite a famous personage," Mr. Mangan remarked, "one of the richest widows in Europe. Her husband was killed in a duel some six of seven years ago."

Dominey ordered the luncheon with care, slipping into a word or two of German once to assist the waiter, who spoke English with difficulty. His companion smiled.

"I see that you have not forgotten your languages out there in the wilds."

"I had no chance to," Dominey answered. "I spent five years on the borders of German East Africa, and I traded with some of the fellows there regularly."

"By the by," Mr. Mangan inquired, "what sort of terms are we on with the Germans out there?"

"Excellent, I should think," was the careless reply. "I never had any trouble."

"Of course," the lawyer continued, "this will all be new to you, but during the last few years Englishmen have become divided into two classes—the people who believe that the Germans wish to go to war and crush us, and those who don't."

"Then since my return the number of the 'don'ts' has been increased by one."

"I am amongst the doubtfuls myself," Mr. Mangan remarked. "All the same, I can't quite see what Germany wants with such an immense army, and why she is continually adding to her fleet."

Dominey paused for a moment to discuss the matter of a sauce with the head waiter. He returned to the subject a few minutes later on, however.

"Of course," he pointed out, "my opinions can only come from a study of the newspapers and from conversations with such Germans as I have met out in Africa, but so far as her army is concerned, I should have said that Russia and France were responsible for that, and the more powerful it is, the less chance of any European conflagration. Russia might at any time come to the conclusion that a war is her only salvation against a revolution, and you know the feeling in France about Alsace-Lorraine as well as I do. The Germans themselves say that there is more interest in military matters and more progress being made in Russia today than ever before."

"I have no doubt that you are right," agreed Mr. Mangan. "It is a matter which is being a great deal discussed just now, however. Let us speak of your personal plans. What do you intend to do for the next few weeks, say? Have you been to see any of your relatives yet?"

"Not one," Dominey replied. "I am afraid that I am not altogether keen about making advances."

Mr. Mangan coughed. "You must remember that during the period of your last residence in London," he said, "you were in a state of chronic impetuosity. No doubt that rather affected the attitude of some of those who would otherwise have been more friendly."

"I should be perfectly content never to see one of them again," declared Dominey, with perfect truth.

"That, of course, is impossible," the lawyer protested. "You must go and see the Duchess, at any rate. She was always your champion."

"The Duchess was always very kind to me," Dominey admitted doubtfully, "but I am afraid she was rather fed up before I left England."

Mr. Mangan smiled. He was enjoying a very excellent lunch, which it seemed hard to believe was ordered by a man just home from the wilds of Africa, and he thoroughly enjoyed talking about duchesses.

"Her Grace," he began. "Well?"

The lawyer had paused, with his eyes glued upon the couple at a neighbouring table. He leaned across towards his companion.

"The Duchess herself, Sir Everard, just behind you, with Lord St. Omar."

"This place must certainly be the rendezvous of all the world," Dominey declared, as he held out his hand to a man who had approached their table. "Seaman, my friend, welcome! Let me introduce you to my friend and legal adviser, Mr. Mangan—Mr. Seaman."

Mr. Seaman was a short, fat man, immaculately dressed in most conventional morning attire. He was almost bald, except for a little tuft on either side, and a few long, fair hairs carefully brushed back over a shining scalp. His face was extraordinarily round except towards his chin, where it came to a point; his eyes bright and keen, his mouth the mouth of a professional humorist. He shook hands with the lawyer with an expression which was scarcely English.

"Within the space of half an hour," Dominey continued, "I find a princess who desires to claim my acquaintance, a cousin," he dropped his voice a little, "who lunches only a few tables away, and the man of whom I have seen most during the last ten years amidst scenes a little different from these, eh, Seaman?"

Seaman accepted the chair which the waiter had brought and sat down. The lawyer was immediately interested.

"Do I understand, then," he asked, addressing the newcomer, "that you knew Sir Everard in Africa?"

Seaman beamed. "Knew him?" he repeated, and with the first words of his speech the fact of his foreign nationality was established. "There was no one of whom I knew so much. We did business together—a great deal of business—and when we were not partners, Sir Everard generally got the best of it."

Dominey laughed. "Luck generally comes to a man either early or late in life. My luck came late. I think, Seaman, that you must have been my mascot. Nothing went wrong with me during the years that we did business together."

Seaman was a little excited. He brushed upright with the palm of his hand on the side of his head, and he laid his plump fingers upon the lawyer's shoulder.

"Mr. Mangan," he said, "you listen to me. I sell this man the controlling interests in a mine, shares which I have held for four and a half years and never drew a penny dividend. I sell them to him, I say, at par. Well, I need the money and it seems to me that I had given the shares a fair chance. Within five weeks, five weeks, sir," he repeated, struggling to attune his voice to his civilized surroundings, "those shares had gone from par to fourteen and a half. Today they stand at twenty. He gave me five thousand pounds for those shares. Today he could walk into your stock market and sell them for one hundred thousand. That is the way money is made in Africa. Mr. Mangan, who innocents like me are to be found every day."

Dominey poured out a glass of wine and passed it to their visitor.

"Come," he said, "we all have our ups and downs. Africa owes you nothing, Seaman."

"I have done well in my small way," Seaman admitted, fingering the stem of his wineglass, "but where I have had to plod, Sir Everard here has stood and commanded fate to pour her treasures into his lap."

The lawyer was listening with a curious interest and pleasure to this half bantering conversation. He found an opportunity now to inter-vene.

"So you two were really friends in Africa?" he remarked, with a queer and almost inexplicable sense of relief.

"If Sir Everard permits our association to be so called," Seaman replied. "We have done business together in the great cities—in Johannesburg and Pretoria, in Kimberley and Cape Town—and we have prospected together in the wild places. We have trekked the veldt and been lost to the world for many months at a time. We have seen the real wonders of Africa together, as well as her sordid civilization."

"And you, too," Mr. Mangan asked, "have you retired?"

Seaman's smile was almost beatific. "The same deal," he said, "which brought Sir Everard's fortune to wonderful figures brought me that modest sum which I had sworn to reach before I returned to England. It is true, I have retired from money-making. It is now that I take up again my real life's work."

DEATH OF PESTS IS VITAL NEED

gest remedial measures, has issued a statement in which he sets forth the views of the committee as to proper steps to be taken.

Utt maintains that the vast outlay now necessary to combat the incursions of the citrus pests would not be necessary were an insectary established in Orange county. Funds to provide and maintain an institution of this kind could be derived from a small assessment against local citrus production, according to Utt.

Utt regards expenditures in connection with fumigation of affected trees as a mere temporary expedient and one not conducive to eradication of the evil, pointing out that with a properly-conducted insectary, immediate and lasting relief would be had from the expensive pests.

Spraying and other methods of fumigation must be continued indefinitely, says Utt. The committee chairman believes that the present system is opposed to economy and suggests direct action, aiming the destructive weapons of the insectary parasites at the devastating mealy-bug and black scale.

By establishing a district insectary, Utt believes that a competent entomologist, backed by sufficient funds, could provide a solution of the present day ills in citrus culture. His suggestions and recommendations—the combined work of the chairman and the members of the committee of eight—will be submitted to officials of the Orange county citrus institute, the third session of which was held here recently under the auspices of the Orange county farm bureau. These two organizations are expected to take cognizance of the recommendations contained in Utt's report.

Orange county harbor boosters see in the terminal proposition an opportunity to put forth the local port as the logical point for erection of the big elevator, provided it is decided to build it.

At the meeting at San Juan Capistrano February 16 there will be representatives from the California Farm Bureau Elevator corporation, who will explain in detail various questions pertaining to the bulk handling of grain and the building of elevators. These experts will have definite figures to present along such lines as costs of construction, design and like matters.

lunch here."

"I had finished my lunch before you came in," his friend replied. "I drank another glass of wine with you, perhaps. After that, a little more, who can say? In this climate one is favored, one can drink freely. Sir Everard and I, Mr. Mangan, have been in places where thirst is a thing to be struggled against, where for months a little weak brandy and water was our chief dissipation."

"Tell us about this hobby?" the lawyer inquired.

Dominey intervened promptly. "I protest. If he begins to talk of that, he'll be here all the afternoon."

Seaman held out his hands and rolled his head from side to side.

"But I am not so unreasonable," he objected. "Just one word—so? Very well, then," he proceeded quickly, with the air of one fearing interruption. "This must be clear to you, Mr. Mangan. I am a German by birth, naturalized in England for the sake of my business, loving Germany, grateful to England. One-third of my life I have lived in Berlin, and at Forest Hill here in London, and in the city, one-third in Africa. I have watched the growth of commercial rivalries and jealousies between the two nations. There is no need for them. They might lead to worse things. I would brush them all away. My aim is to encourage a league for the promotion of more cordial social and business relations between the people of Great Britain and the people of the German Empire. There! Have I wasted much of your time? Can I not speak of my hobby without a flood of words?"

"Conciseness itself," Mangan admitted, "and I compliment you most heartily upon your scheme. If you can get the right people into it, it should prove a most valuable society."

"In Germany I have the right people. All Germans who live for their country and feel for their country loathe the thought of war. We want peace, we want friends, and to speak as man to man," he concluded, tapping the lawyer upon the coat sleeve, "England is our best customer."

"I wish one could believe," the latter remarked, "that yours was the popular voice in your country."

Seaman rose reluctantly to his feet.

"At half-past two," he announced, glancing at his watch, "I have an appointment with a woollen manufacturer from Bradford. I hope to get him to join my council."

He bowed ceremoniously to the lawyer, nodded to Dominey with the familiarity of an old friend, and made his busting, good-humoured way out of the room.

The hall in which the lessons are to be given is available only three nights a week. Moreover Mr. Chamberlin's time, since he is teaching in the High School during the day, is at our service only three nights per week. Therefore we believe that only those persons who apply for tuition early will be fortunate enough to secure seats in Mr. Chamberlin's classes. His plan is to divide the pupils into smaller groups than his high school classes, thus giving more personal attention to each pupil.

Some prospects are writing us: "Save me a seat at those classes" others, telephone or send coupon saying: "You can count on me to join your classes," "My wife and I expect to take Spanish in your night classes," etc.

We cannot promise to save seats. Make a deposit immediately, or pay the low price of the course NOW and secure seats.

ORANGE QUINTET TO MEET FULLERTON
FIVE FRIDAY IN FIRST LEAGUE FRAY

New Coach Directs Work of Basketball Team; Plans Hard Series of Practice Games to Prepare for County Schedule

(Special to The Register)

ORANGE, January 4.—Coach H. M. Davis is running his charges through strenuous drills in preparation for the first league contest of the season, to be played with Fullerton on the local court Friday afternoon.

Coach Davis plans to have at least two games a week, but he was unable to arrange a practice contest before the league game. He announces that one game will be played on Tuesday of each week, in addition to the league contests on Friday. It is possible that a second practice battle will be staged each Saturday night.

At the present time the lads are playing out-of-doors, but Davis is making an effort to secure the old athletic hall, which is now being used by the Y. M. C. A., and will stage games there.

A likely squad of candidates is working under the direction of Coach Davis who is a newcomer in Orange, and the up-county school is confident of making a good showing in the league race. Davis presents the following names as those of the men who will probably take the field against Fullerton Friday: George Murphy, center; Marty and Willis Thompson, forwards; Fritz and Charles Johnson, guards; Newton Richards as a substitute forward, while Ray Chapman may play a part of the game at guard.

Davis has not begun track work yet, but he reports much good material, and states that he will issue a call in a week or two.

FULLERTON QUINTET PREPARES FOR GAME
AT ORANGE FRIDAY

(Special to The Register)

FULLERTON, Jan. 4.—Coach Glenn Lewis's five was this afternoon engaging in battle with the Norwalk high school, in the last practice game before the beginning of the league schedule Friday.

With little time for practice, Lewis was unprepared today to give much of a report on the progress of his charges, but he was confident of his team becoming a factor in the league race. The first game in the Orange county race is to be played at Orange Friday afternoon.

Tomorrow afternoon the Orange high school 110 and 130 pound teams invade Fullerton, to be entertained on the high school courts by the local youngsters.

CHAMPION CALLS OFF
BATTLE WITH DUNDEE

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—Lightweight Champion Benny Leonard was on his way to New York today, after declaring the bout with Johnny Dundee, announced for Milwaukee January 12, had been called off.

Benny wants this fight staged in the East. Meanwhile, the Wisconsin boxing commission has ordered Pinky Mitchell to appear for investigation next week following cancellation of his bout with Leonard last Monday. Pinky's lame shoulder, doctors stated today, would not permit him to box for another ten days.

LOCAL UNDERWRITERS TO AID THRIFT WEEK
IN COUNTY CAMPAIGN

Steps toward co-operation in making Thrift week a success in Orange county are to be taken tonight by the Orange County Life Underwriters' association. January 19 is designated in that week as life insurance day.

The meeting tonight, to be held at the Chamber of Commerce, is for the annual election of officers. "I am very well pleased with the work the association was able to do in 1921," said Guy J. Gilbert, president of the association. The association was formed one year ago with a membership of twelve and has finished the year with a reversion of figures, the membership now being twenty-one.

"The objects of the association are to get together once a month and discuss various phases of the business, that the members may be the better able to serve their clients; to learn to know one another better that we may co-operate to the benefit of all."

"The public also gets benefits through the association, because the association is able to keep in touch with the insurance department of the state and to guarantee to the public that life insurance purchased from any member of the association will be right."

TEACHER ILL

Miss Emma Jones, a teacher at Jefferson school, was at home today suffering from mumps. It was reported, J. H. Newhouse, who has been substituting as teacher of history and mathematics at the high school, has gone to Santa Monica, where he has accepted an appointment in the high school. He is succeeded here by Miss Mercer.

WILSON'S TITLE LOSING VALUE AS STATES BAR HIM FROM MANY RINGS

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Without a place to use it, Johnny Wilson's middleweight title will turn out about as useful to him as snowshoes in Panama.

New York is the latest to decree "we can't use you, John." Three other states have declared quarantine against him and practically nothing remains now but the small time where the champion will hear talk in dollars instead of thousands.

Wilson has been out of luck since he "won" the title from Mike O'Dowd and his championship career has been one mess after another.

In many cases the crossed fingers which wag at the mention of the middleweight king's name are justified, but in the present case there are two sides to the story.

In announcing his intention to run out on a contract with Tex Rickard to meet Harry Greb, Wilson was making what may prove a foolish attempt to get even with Rickard.

The feud dates back to Labor Day when Rickard refused to carry out a contract to pay Wilson $37,500 for meeting Bryan Downey. Rickard said the New Jersey commission had ordered the money withheld, but many whispers were heard that Rickard asked the commission to do it.

It has always been thought strange that the commission never took an open stand on the case.

JOKE ON THIEF AS CHICKENS RETURN

Not counting deductions for a New Year's dinner, the seven chickens of W. M. Benjamin, of Tustin, came wandering home today, one by one.

Each one as it came was greeted by a chuckle from its owner. The owner's chuckle was echoed by his neighbor, Porter C. Edmunds.

Benjamin and Edmunds knew a joke. It was on the thief who stole Benjamin's chickens on New Year's eve.

Carrying the entire contents of Benjamin's chicken roost, the heavily laden thief had started down the road. Edmunds had heard the noise in Benjamin's pens and was at least curious if not suspicious. So when he heard the man passing his house he threw open his front door and turned a flashlight on the figure in the road.

A locomotive headlight might have revealed the thief a moment later, but the flashlight couldn't reach the distance. Edmunds had his first experience in a chicken shower as the thief ran from under his load. It fairly rained poultry, Edmunds said.

Benjamin suffered a shock when he looked in his chicken pen next morning, but his New Year's dinner came chucking home in time.

REPAIR BASKETBALL COURT AT ANAHEIM

Mother Colony Five Has No Games Scheduled for Present Week

(Special to The Register)
ANAHEIM, Jan. 4.—Basketball playing is not being considered seriously here at the high school this week, since no games are scheduled for the first team until January 20.

The court is being plowed up in preparation for resurfacing and practice will not start until tomorrow. Anaheim has a bye in the league schedule Friday, and the manager is making no attempt to secure a practice game, in view of the condition of the team following the extended vacation.

Garden Grove is scheduled as the local school's opponent for Friday, January 13, virtually providing another bye for the first team, since the Gardeners have no first team. The seconds will battle at Garden Grove.

A battle between the local and Long Beach 130 pounders is being negotiated, but the date is unsettled, pending word from the coast. It will probably be played in Anaheim next week.

Leading the Orange county girls' league, the lassies of the high school are eagerly awaiting the game with Santa Ana a week from Thursday. The girls have already defeated Orange and Fullerton and are confident of repeating at the expense of the maids from the county seat. The game will be played in Santa Ana.

RETAIN CONTROL THROUGH LACK OF QUORUM

Although a number of Santa Ana and Orange county shareholders of the Huntington Central Oil company journeyed to Los Angeles yesterday prepared to wage a lively fight in connection with the annual election of the board of directors of this company, no change was made in the directorate, according to a statement today by F. W. Foster of Artesia.

One group of stockholders had been working industriously for the past few weeks in a determined effort to retain in power their favorite directors, Grant M. Lorraine, Charles C. Garrison, W. P. Battelle and A. Bourdo. Equally determined efforts were made by other shareholders to place in the majority the directors headed by J. R. and S. C. Woodward, brothers.

At yesterday's meeting, however, it was found that the number of proxies sent in by the shareholders was wholly insufficient to effect a change in the directorate at this time, and as a result it was announced by Foster that the old board will remain in power. Because of this lack of a quorum, the meeting adjourned until January 3, 1923.

This announcement met with the approval of those of the shareholders who had been fighting to keep the Woodward brothers and their followers in the minority, inasmuch as Lorraine and his fellow directors constitute a majority on the board and will continue active preparations to place in the majority the company's holdings at Huntington Beach.

The company owns two wells, one of which is said to be producing 200 barrels of oil a day. Foster said the other well, known as No. 2, will be actively producing in two weeks.

3 BURGLAR ALARMS
PROVE GROUNDFLESS

Chief of Police Sam Jernigan was pleased today because three burglar alarms had been turned in to police headquarters last night.

He was pleased not only because all of the reports proved groundless but because it showed that the citizens are co-operating with the officers by wasting no time in reporting suspicious circumstances.

"I'm glad they are doing it," Jernigan said today. "It is a big help to us."

The three calls last night were from H. D. Hall, 507 East Pine street, Mrs. Mae Ruland, 612 North Bush, and Philip S. Lucas, membership secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who turned in a call from West First street and Van Ness avenue.

Two cases, prowlers were reported.

REDUCE POSTAGE ON LETTERS TO BRAZIL

The cost of utilizing the postal service is lower.

Postmaster C. D. Overshiner today called attention to the fact that you may now mail letters to your friends in Argentina, Brazil, Costa Rica, Ecuador, Jamaica and Martinique at a cost of two cents an ounce or fraction thereof, as against 4 cents an ounce, the rate obtaining prior to January 1, 1922.

At the same time, Overshiner stated that simultaneously with the arrival of the new year, no more revenue stamps were required on parcel post packages.

Overshiner also called attention to two decisions embodied in the universal postal convention at Madrid. In accordance with one of these provisions the sale of six-cent reply coupons was discontinued December 31, and the new coupon of the eleven-cent denomination, which has been provided to meet the increased postage rate of many foreign countries, was placed on sale January 1, 1922.

The other agreement reached at Madrid was to the effect that newspapers and publications separately wrapped, will be accepted for mailing to foreign countries, at the postage rate of one cent for each four ounces or fraction thereof, this rate being provided for with the express condition that a full rate will be charged upon each newspaper or publication, even though several copies are included under the same wrapper or cover.

EVENING SALUTATION

"Who best
Can suffer, best can do; best reign, who first We'll hath obeyed."

WHAT'S TO BE DONE IN 1922?

This county and this city have a lot of things to do in 1922.

And it is none too early to take stock of what those things are, and it is none too early to begin doing them.

In the county, possibly the most pressing responsibility that calls for attention is the care of the Santa Ana river. Adequate protection lines along the west bank of the channel from above Richfield to the upper end of the Newbert works are essential. To secure them, steps ought to be taken at once for a survey of the situation and for outlining some plan of procedure for the organization of districts to attend to the job.

In Santa Ana, the achievements that this city can make her own in 1922 are numerous. At the beginning of the new year, the first problem open to solution by the people of the city is that of the elementary schools. January 17 an election is to be held for the consideration of $250,000 bonds. In order to give this city the elementary school facilities it needs to meet a rapidly increasing enrollment, these bonds should be carried.

Within a few weeks the serious problem of Santa Ana's sewage disposal is to be taken to the voters. The city authorities have gone over the situation carefully and painstakingly. A reasonable and feasible plan for meeting a difficult situation has been outlined. Action is imperative. The health of the people of the city is at stake. The sewer bonds must be carried.

These are two big things for Santa Ana that can be accomplished within the next month or two.

Other opportunities to serve together in bringing about needed results will be given us. Others we as citizens must seek and bring forward for consideration and action. There are many things, both large and small, that are open for our attention.

We must realize, if we have not already come to a realization of the fact, that Orange county and Santa Ana are growing by leaps and bounds. Provision must be made to meet the demands of development, and to lay the foundation for future growth and development. Let us, therefore, welcome opportunity in 1922 to do the things—to do every possible thing—that plainly point the way to a greater and better Orange county and to a greater and better Santa Ana.

English and French may be the languages of diplomacy, but it's about time to talk a little plain United States to France.

DEBS' "PRINCIPLES"

Released from the federal penitentiary, not by pardon but by commutation of sentence, which does not restore citizenship rights, Eugene V. Debs says: "It is admirably consistent that a man made a convict for his principles under any social system should lose his citizenship in it."

Inasmuch as Debs, however right in his heart, is chronically wrong in his head, such a misunderstanding of the situation on his part arouses no surprise. It is well, however, for the public to keep the facts clearly in mind. Debs was not put in prison because of his political "principles." He was imprisoned because, at a time when his country was engaged in a great and perilous war of self-defense against a powerful aggressor, Debs deliberately fought the draft and tried to cripple his country's military operations.

His being a Socialist leader had nothing to do with his conviction. If anything, it assured him a more considerate trial than if he had not been a conspicuous man. Neither did Debs' Socialist beliefs have anything necessarily to do with his own anti-war principles, for which he regards himself as persecuted. In Germany, the birthplace and stronghold of Socialism, the Socialists joined heartily in the very war against America which Debs thought it so wicked to oppose. Socialism and pacifism were not synonymous at all. Debs was simply guilty of intolerable interference with his country's self-defense in a time of danger and stress, and was punished accordingly.

Things are never quite so hopeless as they seem. The Democrats are beginning to pan the Republican administration for waste. The dear old country is normal, after all.

THE HAPPY HUNDREDS

"Young at 50, efficient at 80, remain happy at 100," is the motto of the One Hundred Year Club. An exponent of its philosophy has just celebrated her 100th birthday at an Illinois Old People's Home. Even the blurred newspaper cut made from her latest photograph conveys the distinct impression of poise, ability, happiness, and health far beyond the average woman of her years.

Nobody needs to dread old age who begins the right sort of living early enough. And people begin to realize that many of the least desirable features of ordinary old age are not the inevitable marks of time, but the perfectly preventable results of ill-balanced living, and are learning to order their lives accordingly.

THE IMPOUNDED AUTOMOBILE

A system of impounding the cars of traffic law violators is meeting with success in some communities where other efforts to check careless driving have failed.

There is no more reason why a dog running wild on the public streets should be put in the pound than why an automobile should be for doing the same thing. The dog, even if he is mad, has no power for harm.

The impounding of the car is not used as an alternative to other punishment, such as imprisonment or a fine for its driver. It is an additional measure. The term for which the car is held in official custody depends upon the gravity of the offense.

This method has an advantage over the system which revokes the driver's license but leaves the car in his hands. It prevents absolutely his selling it, renting it, using it fraudulently or in any manner ameliorating his sentence. In this and other ways the strong arm of the law is beginning to make observance of traffic laws advisable from motives of self-interest if not for humanitarian reasons.

SENATE AND TREATIES

The Washington conference may finish its work in January, but that will not end the matter. There will remain the ratification of its work by the United States Senate. And that is a job of unexpected size and complexity. It is well for the public to get clearly in mind the nature of this senatorial task.

All talk of informal conclusions and "gentlemen's agreements," not requiring ratification, is past. Every conclusion, or group of conclusions, is to be embodied in a treaty. The present plan is to provide four such pacts. They are the five-power treaty for naval limitation, embracing America, Great Britain, France, Japan and Italy; the four-power treaty to guarantee the peace of Pacific possessions and dominions, embracing America, Great Britain, France and Japan; the nine-power treaty aiming to settle the principal Chinese problems, for China herself and for the powers concerned, embracing the powers previously mentioned and four smaller nations having Asiatic interests; and the two-power treaty between America and Japan outlining the rights of both nations on the island of Yap.

With all of these treaties except that of the Far East the American public is already pretty familiar. There is sure to be prolonged discussion, however, of each of them, particularly the four-power Pacific treaty, on account of the question raised as to the responsibilities assumed under it by the United States.

It seems likely that they will all be ratified, in time, in spite of opposition, but it is certain that they are not going through without a fight. Nothing like the prolonged struggle over the Versailles treaty in the Senate is expected, but it need not surprise anybody if the debate occupies the Senate all winter, at least.

Colorado River Improvements

San Francisco Chronicle

There is now general agreement that the time has come for a comprehensive plan for the complete utilization of the waters of the Colorado river. It is understood that our sister city of Los Angeles is willing and ready to assume the entire job, but the suspicious and censorious among other communities claiming to have more or less interest in the river are mean enough to object, because, as they allege, if given a chance the Angelenos would hog the whole river.

The problem of equitable division is not easy. There are seven states having claims on the Colorado, besides Idaho and New Mexico, each of which contributes the water of a few creeks.

For two or three years negotiations have been going on among the seven states which have demonstrated that if we are to await an agreement among these states on this subject the use of the Colorado will become a practical question only to some remote generation. And now comes the Federal Government, declaring that the Colorado is a navigable stream, and it has set up a Federal commission on the river.

The question, on its merits, is highly complicated. In the meantime there are power sites which in any case would be utilized and upon which construction should begin at once. The immediate problem, therefore, is the financing of the big dam, probably at Boulder canyon. Some say that the money should be advanced by the taxpayers of the country, who probably would get none of it back. Others insist that the power sites should be privately financed, in which case the financiers would get all their money back. The former plan appeals strongest to prospective consumers.

Meanwhile, the President has appointed Secretary Hoover chairman of the Federal commission, although it belongs to the Secretary of the Interior. That is creating some talk, but it seems natural that the President should select for such a place one who is primarily an engineer rather than one who is primarily a politician.

The Child's Allowance

Riverside Press

In making the estimates for family expenses for the coming year an allowance for each child should not be overlooked. This should be large enough to cover the child's small school expenses, pencils, paper, etc., his Sunday school contribution, little pleasures, gifts and the like, and a small margin for savings.

The child should be taught to keep within this allowance. If he spends too much on one item he should be helped to decide on what other item he will save in order that he might make up the deficit. He should not be helped out with extra money except in extreme instances, or the lesson of living within the income is lost.

A child thus trained will know how to handle money when he is older, without being either a miser or a waster.

By Golly! They're At It Again

Today's Talk

by George Matthew Adams

THE BLOWN LIGHT

Their home was a type of the average—simple, clean and healthful. Father, Mother, three boys and two girls, one a tiny baby, made up the family.

They lived on the outskirts of town where it was free and quiet. This night they were all gathered about the open fire-place. An older boy and girl had just returned from school. The Christmas tree was still up—for it was the last day of the Old Year.

It was an exceedingly happy reunion, though there were mingling thoughts that kept flitting through the matured minds present. In the silent waves of the room, however, an entering stranger could have felt nothing but the most beautiful concord of spirit.

Soon the family would be broken apart again. The boy and girl would go to their schools, the father to his daily work in the city, and the mother to stay with the younger ones of the nest and to do work that a mother alone is able to perform.

There was a single candle upon the mantle. The fire had gone to a handful of golden coals in a nest of soft-toned ashes.

The father stepped to the candle—and blew it out!

Then he walked back to his chair and knelt with bowed head in a room that was already drab with a still sweetness. And this is what he prayed:

"Father of us all, we bring to You all that our arms can hold in thankfulness and appreciation. Overlook the mistakes we have made. Blot out the memory of our failures. Give to our understanding selves the means to touch Your desires for us during the year before us. Help us each to follow You—so that in turn we may each be able to lead, and serve."

Tomorrow morning as you awake, a new sun will creep into your bedroom window—and each dancing ray will smile a glad and happy New Year to you. May it be the happiest New Year you have ever known.

WHEN TWILIGHT COMES

When twilight comes across the quiet land,
I crave your presence, you who understand
The comradeship of word and look and smile;
The gentle talk and laughter, after while,
And homeward walk across the waveworn sand.

How will it be, I wonder, when the grand Full midday glow of life has vanished,
The sun's last rays fall coldly on the dial,
When twilight comes?

Oh, that we two together still may stand;
Undone, perchance, the deeds we hoped and planned,
Tired and very old, yet missing naught,
Of tenderness or olden word or thought,
God grant that life may leave us hand in hand
When twilight comes!

CHAPTER 233.

BILLY BEAR AND THE HORNETS' NEST.

By Harvey Elliott.

Peter Rabbit had a sore head for several days after he had poked his ear into Buzzer the Bumble Bee's nest. His head, though, didn't hurt him as much as his feelings. He considered that Billy Bear had played him a mean trick in stirring up those Bumble Bees to sting him. Of course Peter did laughly when Billy Bear rolled over on the Bumble-bee in the clover patch, but then Billy didn't need to stir up that nest. The more Peter thought about it the madder he got.

Peter Rabbit is a little fellow by the side of Billy Bear but he decided to think up some way to get even. "Tee-he-he, I got it, I got it," Peter said, giggling to himself. "There are some things hotter than Bumblebees."

Next morning Peter Rabbit met Billy Bear on purpose at a certain place as Billy was taking his morning walk. Peter's head was still swelled up on one side from the Bumble-bee sting of the day before. "Hello, Peter Rabbit," said Billy Bear, pompously. "How are the mumps today?"

"That remark didn't make Peter feel any more kindly toward Billy Bear. It looked as if Billy was trying to rub it in. "But never mind," Peter said to himself.

Peter Rabbit seemed in somewhat of a hurry and hopped away to a certain tree and stopped and stood on his hind feet looking up at a low hanging limb that had what looked like a great big bunch of leaves on it.

Peter looked so long and earnestly that Billy Bear went over to see what he was looking at.

"What do you see, Peter?" asked Billy, in a matter of fact way.

"Did you ever in your life see a tree with such funny leaves?" asked Peter. "Look at that big bunch there on that limb. Hand it down, Billy, let's see what's on the inside."

Billy Bear rose on his hind feet and reached up for the big bunch of leaves. The very minute Billy started to reach up Peter Rabbit scooted for the brush-pile so fast that he kicked up leaves higher than his head all the way. But Billy didn't notice Peter Rabbit's running away and so pulled down the bunch of leaves that Peter Rabbit seemed so anxious to examine. But Peter intended that Billy Bear should do the examining, as he didn't intend to be there.

Now the reason Peter Rabbit didn't intend to be there was that that bunch of leaves was a hornet's nest and Peter knew it all the time. His plan was for Billy Bear to find it out for himself.

And Billy did! As soon as he pulled down that bunch of leaves he heard music that beat the Bumblebees' song a mile. Billy looked for Peter but he was nowhere to be seen. Then he dropped his leaves and started to run himself.

Bill! bang! whack! bang! Those hornets were peppering Billy Bear on every side for tearing their house down. Some of them didn't hurt, but every time one would strike about Billy's face or eyes or nose they drove those sharp stingers in him but he was nowhere to be seen. Those pesky mad hornets followed him till he jumped in the creek and stuck his head under the water.

When a fellow plays a mean trick on the other fellow he may expect to have a mean trick played on himself.

The Water and Power Act

The hardest and perhaps the bitterest legislative fight in California in 1922 is to be waged over the water and power act, if one may judge by the preliminary skirmishes.

The act is to be voted on by the people of this state on November 7. Its purpose is to furnish a revolving fund of $500,000,000 to be used by municipalities of the state in the development of water and power.

A number of organizations of the state have gone firmly on record against the measure, condemning it as socialistic, unsound and certain to subject the people of the state to an enormous expenditure in carrying out what the opponents of the measure term "an experiment."

During 1922, the water and power act will be discussed at dozens of gatherings in Orange county. Press bureaus will flood the state with publicity for and against the measure.

The Register will present both sides of the matter fully. The opening gun of the campaign to be waged for the passage of the act has been fired from the headquarters of the act's state campaign committee, 905 First National Bank building, San Francisco. The letter sent to newspapers by the committee is deeply interesting as it, no doubt, sounds the keynote to the line of presentation to be made in favor of the passage of the act. The letter from the committee follows in full:

"California's water and power act is on the ballot. The executive Board, heading the campaign for the measure, was informed that more than 60,000 signatures to the initiative petitions had been certified with the secretary of state at Sacramento. A large number are still to be recorded. The act is a proposed constitutional amendment, and will be voted on at the general election of Nov. 7, 1922.

"The initiative measure would make state credit available for the development of water and power by communities at cost, revenues paid, insuring carrying charges, without taxation and without bonded indebtedness on land. Since the publication of the preliminary draft of the act, July 26, it has received the endorsements of the League of California Municipalities, the Federation of American Farmers, comprising 30,000 members in California, the State Federation of Labor, the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative union, the Public Ownership league, the Southern California Power league, and other public bodies.

"Regarding the success of the campaign, the success of the campaign, in placing the issue on the ballot, the following statement was today made public by the executive board:

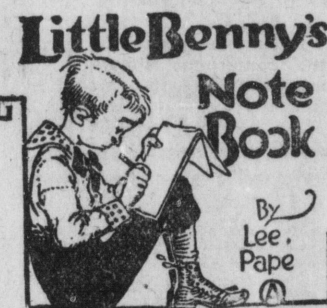

"California's water and power act has been bitterly opposed by entrenched private interests from the day it was first offered the public. All the endorsements so far procured were obtained in the face of this hostility. Similarly, the campaign to procure initiative signatures was opposed and obstructed in every possible way—with the same result. The act is on the ballot, and it was placed there with a large surplus of signatures.

"While clearly recognizing legitimate grounds for differences of opinion on any public issue, it is a statement of fact to note that, to date, the opposition to this measure has been led by the special privilege interests and those who have consistently and unfailingly opposed every progressive measure which has ever been advanced in California. Hence the alignment is clear. The issue lies between the unrelenting enemies of California's entire program of progressive legislation of the last eleven years—you will find them all on record against this measure—and those who fought successfully to place California in the forefront of the enlightened commonwealths of the world.

"The battle goes on. California must make good its gains by meeting and solving this great economic problem. It has no coal, its oil supply cannot long care for its needs, millions of potentially fertile acres are suffering for lack of water for irrigation. The water and the power are here and they are ours. Private operation has proven inadequate to the demands of California's growth. The people of California must do the job themselves. California's water and power act offers the one sound practicable way to do it.

"This measure was drawn by specialists and experts in the problems involved. It represents nearly three months' work by legislators, financiers, economists, engineers, attorneys, agriculturists, business men, and others who brought years of practical experience to the task.

"As its originators foresaw, it already has become the most important issue before the people of California, and it will make the year 1922 memorable in California history. For this year will either reveal California alive to its great civic opportunity, still leading the vanguard of American liberalism, or it will mark a lapse back into the old dark days of reaction. The issue is before the people. We have no doubt of their response. We confidently and firmly believe they will write California's water and power act into the constitution on election day—November 7, 1922."

JUST A BUNCH OF FLOWERS

Editor Register: Yes, just a bunch of those beautiful Christmas flowers and fernery came to me Christmas eve just as I was about to overcome with my loneliness.

O! that lonely, depressing silence—always a silence! None to speak to—no, not one left. There are not words to tell how it can envelop you, how envelop you with its ever presence.

Poe's raven would make a sound—a break, in that silence—and I had been in this physically unable to be cut all week. The rain could not have kept me in, but it did add so much to that lonely depression to "just me," in a damp, bed-ridden land, when so suddenly, so unexpectedly, from out all that gloom, darkness, rain and mud came a cheery masculine voice that chased away all that silence and gloom.

"Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Bell, where are you? and I, like the "starting" in the school reader of my childhood days, answered that voice with "Here am I." And then Rev. Porter, pastor of the Christian church, and Mr. Mitchell stepped to my little sedan door and with a Merry Christmas, said, "We have brought you some flowers. Mrs. Bell, just to let you know we have not forgotten you."

Oh! what strength, what courage, what determination to meet this meek condition that Christlike, kindly act with "just to let you know we have not forgotten you" gave me! I could write volumes on it and then fall, utterly flat, to express all it did for me.

It is not splendid to know our last act of the old year was to give cheer to another, to brighten some lonely corner? And then what an incentive it will be to add to our desire and resolution for the new year to do even greater and better deeds.

I have a great ambition—yes, my eye being is saturated with the desire to do all I can for better health for humanity and to help to stamp out that awful disease—tuberculosis. I am in that work at my own expense, and free of charge, I am talking from the lecture platform, using charts from the National Anti-Tuberculosis association. Therefore, I am so constantly among strangers that I have been sorely tempted to quit this much-needed work, but on looking at that beautiful bouquet I feel encouraged and hopeful that I may do more and better work in 1922 than I have done in any other year.
